From the Introduction

So What Makes Our Teaching Christian? Robert W. Pazmiño, 2008-09-22 This work explores a perennial question that Christians who are called to teach must consider: So what makes our teaching Christian? It considers the essential and distinctive elements of Christian teaching by examining the apostles' teaching ministry in the Book of Acts and aspects of Jesus's own teaching in the Gospel of John. It proposes how teaching in the name, spirit, and power of Jesus relates to the teaching ministries of Christians today. For example, an in-depth look at Jesus's teaching of both Nicodemus and the Samaritan woman known in Christian tradition as Photini provides insights for transformative teaching of both insiders and outsiders in a Christian community. This work is a theological, pastoral, and educational exploration of Christian teaching that has implications for both laity and clergy in their ministries.

educational systems often reducing the learner to an empty container waiting to be filled with lecture after lecture As a result there is a cry throughout Africa for an education that can empower the learner to think critically to love both God and others and to bring change in his or her community This is what education for holistic transformation is all about This book came about as a result of a doctoral study conducted in Kenya which featured both Christian higher educational institutions and public universities in a unique comparative analysis that will be helpful to educational leaders on both sides Readers will learn that transformation is a discovery that takes place through change of perspective As this research reveals this new perspective is triggered by a new revelation a new truth a provoking thought a shocking observation or a new testimony Thus the process of holistic transformation takes place through divine revelation self reflection written material and the other
