

- 1 In experiments on pollination, scientists often allow one insect to visit one flower. They then treat the flower (as shown in the diagram).
 - a Identify what has been done to the flower and explain why this has been done.
 - b Describe what happens after the insect has visited, in order for fertilisation to occur.
 - c What happens during fertilisation?

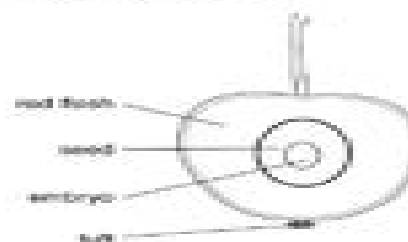

- 2 In an experiment, six different insects were allowed to visit separate blueberry flowers. The number of seeds that developed inside each blueberry fruit was then counted. This was repeated a number of times for each insect, and mean values were calculated. The results are shown in the bar chart.

How number of seeds depends on pollinator in blueberry plants

- a Which insect caused the most seeds to form?
 - b Suggest a reason for this.
 - c Which of the results can you be least certain of? Explain your reasoning.
- 3 The drawing shows a fruit, which is bright red in colour.
 - a How does this fruit help to disperse the seeds? Explain your reasoning.
 - b From which part of the flower have the labelled parts been formed?
 - c Why is it important that plants disperse their seeds?
 - d Name the parts you would expect to find in a seed and describe their functions. Present your answer as a paragraph.
