

Surge Protector Instructions

1. Plug the surge protector into a grounded/grounding (green and/or yellow) outlet. Verify that there are no exposed conductors.
2. Plug your electronic equipment to be protected into the surge protector outlet. Do not add electronic loads to current equipment to the surge protector.
3. Plug power cord to GFCI-type equipment should be grounded/surge protection. Do not use non-grounded electronic loads. The glowing surge indicator light shows that surge protection is engaged.
4. Unplugged equipment can now be serviced.

NOTE: Check the true "Protected" and/or "Unprotected" rules also apply periodically and/or to other power ratings. High-wattage incandescent light shows that surge protection is important in the event that the protector's capacity is exceeded (i.e. power-surge protection for components only). The indicator light will not fail and the power will be continuously shut down to the units, allowing surge protection for just electronic equipment. In this event, the C-1000-2000 unit, normally is no longer valid and the surge protector should be replaced. It glows green indicator light shows that your surge protector is plugged into grounded receptacle and the surge protector's ground protection (ensuring pre-grounded protection from ground surge). The "Unprotected" indicator light just glowing, it is possible that the surge protector's ground protection components (because of or the unit's internal wiring) is no longer connected.
