Climate Change and Critical Agrarian Studies Ian Scoones, Saturnino M. Borras Jr., Amita Baviskar, Marc Edelman, Nancy Lee Peluso, Wendy Wolford, 2023-11-30 Climate change is perhaps the greatest threat to humanity today and plays out as a cruel engine of myriad forms of injustice violence and destruction The effects of climate change from human made emissions of greenhouse gases are devastating and accelerating yet are uncertain and uneven both in terms of geography and socio economic impacts Emerging from the dynamics of capitalism since the industrial revolution as well as industrialisation under state led socialism the consequences of climate change are especially profound for the countryside and its inhabitants The book interrogates the narratives and strategies that frame climate change and examines the institutionalised responses in agrarian settings highlighting what exclusions and inclusions result It explores how different people in relation to class and other co constituted axes of social difference such as gender race ethnicity age and occupation are affected by climate change as well as the climate adaptation and mitigation responses being implemented in rural areas The book in turn explores how climate change and the responses to it affect processes of social differentiation trajectories of accumulation and in turn agrarian politics Finally the book examines what strategies are required to confront climate change and the underlying political economic dynamics that cause it reflecting on what this means for agrarian struggles across the world The 26 chapters in this volume explore how the relationship between capitalism and climate change plays out in the rural world and in particular the way agrarian struggles connect with the huge challenge of climate change Through a huge variety of case studies alongside more conceptual chapters the book makes the often missing connection between climate change and critical agrarian studies. The book argues that making the connection between climate and agrarian justice is crucial The chapters in this book were originally published in The Journal of Peasant Studies The Open Access version of this book available at https www taylorfrancis com books oa edit 10 4324 9781003467960 climate change critical agrarian studies ian scoones saturnino borras jr amita baviskar marc edelman nancy lee peluso wendy wolford has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license A version of the open access title is also available on the OAPEN platform https library oapen org handle 20 500 12657 85297 Legal Development and Change David K. Linnan, 2016-04-22 This book addresses critical questions about how legal development works in practice Can law be employed to shape behavior as a form of social engineering or must social behavior change first relegating legal change to follow as ratification or reinforcement And what is legal development s source of legitimacy if not modernization But by the same token whose version of modernization will predominate absent a Western monopoly on change There are now legal development alternatives especially from Asia so we need a better way to ask the right questions of different approaches primarily in non Western Asia Africa the Islamic world plus South America Incoming waves of change like the Arab spring lie on the horizon Meanwhile debates are sharpening about law s role in economic development versus democracy and governance under the rubric of the rule of law More than a general survey of law and modernization theory and practice this work is a timely reference for practitioners of institutional reform and a thought provoking interdisciplinary collection of essays in an area of renewed practical and scholarly interest The contributors are a distinguished international group of scholars and practitioners of law development social sciences and religion with extensive experience in the developing world Gender, Branding, and the Modern Music Industry the Newbury Bypass is a revealing measure of how strongly people feel about trees and the environment Similarly in the United States the giant sequoia of California is an enduring national symbol that inspires intense feelings As rainforests are sacrificed to the interests of multi national corporations and traditional ways of life disappear the status of forests the cultural significance of trees and the impact of conservation policies are subjects that have inspired intense engagement Why do people feel so strongly about trees With this explosion of interest in environmental issues a serious study of what trees mean to people has long been overdue This interdisciplinary book responds to this need by providing the first cross cultural analysis of tree symbolism Drawing on rich case studies contributors explore the processes through which trees are used as metaphors of identity and continuity Political struggles over forest resources feature prominently and the perceptions of trees in various cultures provide telling insights into the ways in which human societies conceptualize nature As well as being a major contribution to the field of symbolic anthropology this comprehensive study will be essential reading for students in a wide range of courses and for anyone with a keen interest in the politics of ecology the occult and neo paganism and the history and sociology of environmentalism in its widest sense Trans Kids Tey Meadow, 2018-08-17 Trans Kids is a trenchant ethnographic and interview based study of the first generation of families affirming and facilitating gender nonconformity in children Earlier generations of parents sent such children for psychiatric treatment aimed at a cure but today many parents agree to call their children new names allow them to wear whatever clothing they choose and approach the state to alter the gender designation on their passports and birth certificates Drawing from sociology philosophy psychology and sexuality studies sociologist Tey Meadow depicts the intricate social processes that shape gender acquisition Where once atypical gender expression was considered a failure of gender now it is a form of gender Engaging and rigorously argued Trans Kids underscores the centrality of ever more particular configurations of gender in both our physical and psychological lives and the increasing embeddedness of personal identities in social institutions Psychology and although many interesting developments have occurred throughout the decade that followed there is still much to do in terms of policy knowledge production dissemination and education This work contributes to all three objectives by advancing the state of knowledge as well as providing educational and professional tools in the field of gender sensitive planning in Europe The volume begins by explaining the concept of gender mainstreaming in relation to its origins in the second wave of the women's movement and critiques of planning architecture transport planning and other built environment disciplines It then provides a brief history of how gender mainstreaming was incorporated into European law before focusing on the theoretical issues and questions that surround the concept of gender mainstreaming as they relate to urban space and the planning of cities and regions including a discussion of the persistence of inequalities between the sexes in their access to urban space and services In particular the division between waged and unwaged work and its impact on the social construction of gender and of the physical built environment is considered The differences between definitions of feminism and their implications for action in planning and design are also explored paying regard to the tensions between a feminist vision of a transformation of gender relations and the requirements of gender mainstreaming to accommodate the different needs of women and men in their everyday lives in urban space Throughout the book key issues recur such as the importance of time and space in the experience of urbanism resistances to change on the part of institutions and social structures and the importance of networks Education and training also appear as common themes as do citizen participation and the structures of governance The chapters are organised into four sections concepts structures empowerment and spatial quality Contributors demonstrate a variety of approaches to the intersections of gender women cities and planning dealing with substantive and procedural issues in planning at both local and regional scales They stress the links between environmental sustainability and gender sensitive urban development The book concludes by putting forward an outlook for future action

At Home in the Eighteenth Century Stephen G. Hague, Karen Lipsedge, 2021-09-17 The eighteenth century home in terms of its structure design function and furnishing was a site of transformation of spaces identities and practices Home has myriad meanings and although the eighteenth century in the common imagination is often associated with taking tea on polished mahogany tables a far wider world of experience remains to be introduced At Home in the Eighteenth Century brings together factual and fictive texts and spaces to explore aspects of the typical Georgian home that we think we know from Jane Austen novels and extant country houses while also engaging with uncharacteristic and underappreciated aspects of the home At the core of the volume is the claim that exploring eighteenth century domesticity from a range of disciplinary vantage points can yield original and interesting questions as well as reveal new answers Contributions from the fields of literature history archaeology art history heritage studies and material culture brings the home more sharply into focus In this way At Home in the Eighteenth Century reveals a more nuanced and fluid concept of the eighteenth century home and becomes a steppingstone to greater understanding of domestic space for undergraduate level and beyond
