Starting Points in Critical Language Pedagogy Graham V. Crookes, Arman Abednia, 2022-01-01 Critical language pedagogy also sometimes referred to as critical ELT where English is the primary language involved has a literature in which theoretical and specialized work has outstripped more practically oriented material Nevertheless even practically oriented publications in this area tend to address the experienced well resourced teacher as opposed to those beginning in this area or those without much professional support With a view to helping prepare second language teachers to begin to engage with critical language pedagogy the authors of this book start from areas of conventional L2 curriculum that teachers naturally use Each chapter presents material pertinent to areas of language language teaching and course delivery starting from a fairly conventional perspective It then attempts to explain how this conception can be extended drawing upon the ideas of critical language pedagogy and teachers experiences The authors experience of working with teachers who work under different circumstances in teacher education courses and workshops form key elements of the book Teachers voices are also given adequate space so as to provide a comprehensive picture and situated understanding of critical language pedagogy Dialogical engagement with the initial perspectives of beginning critical language pedagogy teachers who do not necessarily have a fully worked out critical philosophy of teaching or those who wish to practice critical ELT is another feature of the book Finally to strengthen the practical orientation of the book teaching strategies and extracts of materials and lesson plans are also provided

Research in Young Children's Literacy and Language Development Olivia N. Saracho, 2019-12-13 The importance of the early years in young children's lives and the rigid inequality in literacy achievement are a stimulating backdrop to current research in young children's language and literacy development This book reports new data and empirical analyses that advance the theory of language and literacy with researchers using different methodologies in conducting their study with both a sound empirical underpinning and a captivating analytical rationalization of the results The contributors to this volume used several methodological methods e.g. quantitative qualitative to describe the complete concept of the study the achievement of the study and the study in an appropriate manner based on the study's methodology The contributions to this volume cover a wide range of topics including dual language learners Latino immigrant children children who have hearing disabilities parents and teachers' beliefs about language development early literacy skills of toddlers and preschool children interventions multimodalities in early literacies writing and family literacy The studies were conducted in various early childhood settings such as child care nursery school Head Start kindergarten and primary grades and the subjects in the studies represent the pluralism of the globe a pluralism of language backgrounds ethnicity abilities and disabilities This book was originally published as a special issue of Early Child Development and Care

Cross-linguistic Transfer in Reading in Multilingual Contexts Elena Zaretsky, Mila Schwartz, 2016-10-03 This book represents concurrent attempts of multiple researchers to address the issue of cross-linguistic transfer in literacy It includes broad spectrum of languages and reflects a new generation of conceptualizations of cross-linguistic transfer offering a different level of complexity by studying children who are trilingual and even learning a fourth language The collection of papers in this volume tried to capture the dynamic developmental changes in cross-linguistic transfer that include such factors as age of acquisition typological proximity of L1 and L2 and L3 L4 intensity of exposure to language and reading in ambient and newly acquired language's quality of input and home literacy More stringent methodological considerations allowed to isolate specific constructs that suggest either primary levels of children's metalinguistic abilities phonological awareness that can be applied cross-linguistically or a more language-specific constructs morphological awareness that relies on various factors including typological proximity language proficiency and task demands Originally published in Written Language Literacy Vol 17 1 2014
