

Nature vs Nurture Psychology Debate

This debate in psychology looks at the different aspects of behaviour and if it is learned behaviour or inherited. To explore this, we will be looking at the case of a 17-year-old boy called Peter. Peter comes from a dysfunctional family and has become involved in violence and anti-social behaviour in his local neighbourhood. We will look at reasons for his aggressiveness is it behaviour from family genes or if it's learned behaviour from the surrounding environment. (McEldowney 2018) 'There are many different factors of aggression that can lead to a range of behaviours such as harming yourself or others both mentally and physically. There are two types of aggression, hostile and instrumental. Hostile aggression typically in the form of anger is not planned but impulsive whereas instrumental aggression is methodical and intended.' (Cherry 2018) Links can be made to Peter's aggression when we evaluate different theories and their explanations of aggression. The theories of nature and nurture help give us an explanation as to Peter's aggressiveness. Nature – refers to our pre-wiring, influenced by genetic inheritance and other biological features e.g. Hormones and neurological make up. Nurture – is the influence of external factors such as environment, exposure, experience and learning of an individual.' (Cherry 2018) Nature Peter has a volatile relationship with his parents, his mother and siblings all subjected to abuse by his father who drinks heavily. This is a difficult relationship and both genetics and the environment may impact Peter's behaviour. Research shows human behaviour can be influenced by the genes we acquire from our parents. Twin adoption theories show the link between genetic behaviours being shared and the extent of a shared environment. Psychologists like to study identical twins because of the identical genes they carry. Hereditary and environmental influences are studied to investigate behavioural traits. (McEldowney 2018) Thomas Bouchard carried out a study on identical twins the Jim Twins, separated at birth and raised by two different families. 39 years later they met. They were ideal candidates as they had only been acquainted for a short time and they also had very similar lives both sharing the same name, their sons sharing the same names, both divorced and married women of the same name. One of Bouchard's personality tests on the twins showed that they may as well have been the same person the results were so similar. Brain wave tests and many other tests also gave the same results. The twins also had the same medical history both having high blood pressure, vasectomies etc. (Hartman 1980) The findings from the study of the twins proves and may explain why Peter may be so aggressive as he may have inherited this aggressiveness from his father. The Instinct Theory of Aggression was a theory developed by Sigmund Freud. Freud believed all humans have the potential for aggressive 'fighting' behaviour to protect and defend territory, mates and offspring, this cannot be eliminated based on Darwin's Theory of Evolution. He states aggression is an instinct inside every individual, these feelings can build up and if not released could lead to mental health problems e.g. stress anxiety and emotional strain. This aggressive energy must be released so it is known as a displacement of aggression. The energy can be displaced in a variety of ways both positive and
