

A beautiful, awe-inspiring tableau of our world as you've never seen it.
Colin Woodard, The Christian Science Monitor

The background of the book cover is a photograph of an albatross in flight. The bird is white with dark wings, captured in a powerful glide against a clear, deep blue sky. Below the bird, the dark, textured surface of the ocean is visible, with white foam from breaking waves. The title 'Eye of the Albatross' is written in a large, white, serif font, with the bird's wings passing through the letters.

Eye Of The Albatross Visions Of Hope And Survival:

Eye of the Albatross Carl Safina, 2003-04 Interwoven with recollections of whalers and famous explorers Eye of the Albatross probes the unmistakable environmental impact of the encounters between man and marine life Safina's portrait results in an eye opening look at the health of our oceans 15 illustrations 13 maps Albatross Graham Barwell, 2013-10-15 At length did cross an Albatross Through the fog it came As if it had been a Christian soul We hailed it in God's name The introduction of the albatross in Samuel Taylor Coleridge's The Rime of the Ancient Mariner remains one of the most well known references to this majestic seabird in Western culture In Albatross Graham Barwell goes beyond Coleridge to examine the role the bird plays in the lives of a wide variety of peoples and societies from the early views of north Atlantic mariners to modern encounters by writers artists and filmmakers Exploring how the bird has been celebrated in proverbs folk stories art and ceremonies Barwell shows how people marvel at the way the albatross soars through the air covering awe inspiring distances with little effort thanks to its impressive wingspan He surveys the many approaches people have taken to thinking about the albatross over the past two hundred years from those who devoted their lives to these birds to those who hunted them for food and sport and discusses its place in the human imagination Concluding with a reflection on the bird's changing significance in the modern world Barwell considers threats to its continued existence and its prospects for the future With one hundred illustrations from nature film and popular culture Albatross is an absorbing look at these beautiful birds The Empty Ocean Richard Ellis, 2013-03-19 In The Empty Ocean acclaimed author and artist Richard Ellis tells the story of our continued plunder of life in the sea and weighs the chances for its recovery Through fascinating portraits of a wide array of creatures he introduces us to the many forms of sea life that humans have fished hunted and collected over the centuries from charismatic whales and dolphins to the lowly menhaden from sea turtles to cod tuna and coral Rich in history anecdote and surprising fact Richard Ellis's descriptions bring to life the natural history of the various species the threats they face and the losses they have suffered Killing has occurred on a truly stunning scale with extinction all too often the result leaving a once teeming ocean greatly depleted But the author also finds instances of hope and resilience of species that have begun to make remarkable comebacks when given the opportunity Written with passion and grace and illustrated with Richard Ellis's own drawings The Empty Ocean brings to a wide audience a compelling view of the damage we have caused to life in the sea and what we can do about it Conservation Yael Calhoun, 2009 Examines the challenges of conserving the natural resources that live in the oceans rivers lakes streams and on land The Birds World Nicolae Sfetcu, 2021-10-25 Birds are among the most extensively studied of all animal groups Hundreds of academic journals and thousands of scientists are devoted to bird research while amateur enthusiasts called birdwatchers or more commonly birders probably number in the millions Birds are categorised as a biological class Aves The earliest known species of this class is Archaeopteryx lithographica from the Late Jurassic period According to the most recent consensus Aves and a sister group the order

Crocodylia together form a group of unnamed rank the Archosauria Phylogenetically Aves is usually defined as all descendants of the most recent common ancestor of modern birds or of a specific modern bird species like Passer domesticus and Archaeopteryx Modern phylogenies place birds in the dinosaur clade Theropoda Modern birds are divided into two superorders the Paleognathae mostly flightless birds like ostriches and the wildly diverse Neognathae containing all other birds

Wired Wilderness Etienne Benson, 2010-12-01 American wildlife biologists first began fitting animals with radio transmitters in the 1950s By the 1980s the practice had proven so useful to scientists and nonscientists alike that it became global Wired Wilderness is the first book length study of the origin evolution use and impact of these now commonplace tracking technologies Combining approaches from environmental history the history of science and technology animal studies and the cultural and political history of the United States Etienne Benson traces the radio tracking of wild animals across a wide range of institutions regions and species and in a variety of contexts He explains how hunters animal rights activists and other conservation minded groups gradually turned tagging from a tool for control into a conduit for connection with wildlife Drawing on extensive archival research interviews with wildlife biologists and engineers and in depth case studies of specific conservation issues such as the management of deer grouse and other game animals in the upper Midwest and the conservation of tigers and rhinoceroses in Nepal Benson illuminates telemetry's context dependent uses and meanings as well as commonalities among tagging practices Wired Wilderness traces the evolution of the modern wildlife biologist's field practices and shows how the intense interest of nonscientists at once constrained and benefited the field Scholars of and researchers involved in wildlife management will find this history both fascinating and revealing

A Flash of Golden Fire Thomas Elsner, 2025-05-01 In the early twentieth century C G Jung survived an intense encounter with the unconscious He did this by giving expression to his inner world in the paintings and dialogues found in the Red Book Yet Jung felt alone in this work unable to find a precedent or cultural parallel until he discovered alchemy This ancient protoscience became the bridge Jung had been seeking between the remote past and the present Yet between the downfall of alchemy in the eighteenth century and Jung's Red Book in the twentieth it seems that there was a gap in the tradition According to Jungian analyst and author Thomas Elsner Samuel Taylor Coleridge's great visionary poem The Rime of the Ancient Mariner is another link in that golden chain In Elsner's analysis Coleridge's nineteenth century night sea journey can today be understood as a symbolic self portrait of the collective unconscious a self portrait that like the Red Book finds its historical context and continuity in the alchemical tradition Continuing the highly esteemed works arising from the Fay Lecture Series sponsored by the Jung Center Houston Elsner's A Flash of Golden Fire: The Birth Death and Rebirth of the Modern Soul in Coleridge's The Rime of the Ancient Mariner promises to further extend the understanding and appreciation of Jungian principles for practitioners analysts others interested in Jungian theory and practice the psychological dimensions of Romantic poetry and the evolution of Western consciousness
