Reconfiguring Families in Contemporary Vietnam Danièle Bélanger, Magali Barbieri, 2009-03-18 Reconfiguring Families in Contemporary Vietnam chronicles and analyzes the most significant change for families in Vietnam's recent past the transition to a market economy referred to as Doi Moi in Vietnamese and generally translated as the renovation Two decades have passed since the wide ranging institutional transformations that took place reconfigured the ways families produce and reproduce The downsizing of the socialist welfare system and the return of the household as the unit of production and consumption redefined the boundaries between the public and private This volume is the first to offer a multidisciplinary perspective that sets its gaze exclusively on processes at work in the everyday lives of families and on the implications for gender and intergenerational relations By focusing on families this book shifts the spotlight from macro transformations of the renovation era orchestrated by those in power to micro level transformations experienced daily in households between husbands and wives parents and children grandparents and other family members Epidemic Politics in Contemporary Vietnam Martha Lincoln,2021-11-04 Through a tumultuous 20th century period of revolution and foreign wars Vietnam s public health system was praised by international observers as a bright light in an epidemiologically dark world standing out for its accomplishments in infectious disease control Since the country s transition to a market economy with socialist orientation in the mid 1980s however some of these achievements have been reversed as the renovation of national systems for welfare and health leaves gaps in the social safety net A series of cholera outbreaks that spread through Northern Vietnam in 2007 2010 revealed the paradoxes contradictions and challenges that Vietnam faces in its post transition period This book presents an anthropological analysis of the political economic and infrastructural inputs to these epidemics and suggests how the most commonly repeated accounts of disease spread misdirected public attention and suppressed awareness of risk factors in Vietnam s capital Drawing a parallel to the experience of novel coronavirus in Asia and beyond this book reflects on how political priorities economic forces and cultural struggles influence the experience and the epidemiology of infectious disease Vietnam's Socialist Servants Minh T. N. Nguyen,2014-08-27 Since Vietnam introduced economic reforms in the mid 1980s domestic service has become an established sector of the labour market and domestic workers have become indispensable to urban life in the rapidly changing country This book analyzes the ways in which the practices and discourses of domestic service serve to forge and contest emerging class identities in post reform Vietnam Drawing on a rich and diverse range of qualitative data including ethnographies interviews and narratives it shows that such practices and discourses are rooted in cultural notions of gender and rural urban difference and enduring socialist structures of feeling which in turn clash with the realities of growing differentiation Domestic workers experiences reveal negotiations with class boundaries actively set by the urban middle class who seek distinction through emerging notions and practices of domesticity These boundaries are nevertheless riddled with gender and class anxiety on the side of the latter partly because of the very struggles and contestations of the domestic workers More broadly Minh T N Nguyen links the often invisible intimate dynamics of class formation in the domestic sphere with wider political economic processes in a post socialist country embarking on marketization while retaining the political control of a party state As a pioneering ethnographic study of domestic service in Vietnam today this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian culture society social anthropology gender studies human geography and development studies Gender Violence in Poverty Contexts Jenny Parkes,2015-03-27 This book is concerned with understanding the complex ways in which gender violence and poverty impact on young people s lives and the potential for education to challenge violence Although there has been a recent expansion of research on gender violence and schooling the field of research that brings together thinking on gender violence poverty and education is in its infancy This book sets out to establish this new field by offering innovative research insights into the nature of violence affecting children and young people the sources of violence including the relationship with poverty and inequality the effects of violence on young subjectivities and the educational challenge of how to counter violence Authors address three interrelated aims in their chapters to identify theoretical and methodological framings for understanding the relationship between gender violence poverty and education to demonstrate how young people living in varying contexts of poverty in the Global South learn about engage in respond to and resist gender violence to investigate how institutions including schools families communities governments international and non governmental organisations and the media constrain or expand possibilities to challenge gender violence in the Global South Describing a range of innovative research projects the chapters display what scholarly work can offer to help meet the educational challenge and to find ways to help young people and those around them to understand resist and rupture the many faces of violence Gender Violence in Poverty Contexts will appeal to an international audience of postgraduate students academics and researchers in the fields of international and comparative education gender and women s studies teacher education poverty development and conflict studies African and Asian studies and related disciplines It will also be of interest to professionals in NGOs and other organisations and policy makers keen to develop research informed practice Winner of the 2016 Jackie Kirk Outstanding Book Award

Food Anxiety in Globalising Vietnam Judith Ehlert, Nora Katharina Falzmann, 2018-01-01 This open access book approaches the anxieties inherent in food consumption and production in Vietnam The country's rapid and recent economic integration into global agro food systems and consumer markets spurred a new quality of food safety concerns health issues and distrust in food distribution networks that have become increasingly obscured This edited volume further puts the eating body centre stage by following how gendered body norms food taboos power structures and social differentiation shape people's ambivalent relations with food It uncovers Vietnam's trajectories of agricultural modernisation against which consumers and producers manoeuvre amongst food self sufficiency security and abundance Food Anxiety in Globalising Vietnam is explicitly about dangerous food regarding its materiality and meaning It provides social science perspectives on anxieties related to food and surrounding discourses that travel between the local and the global the individual and society and into the body Therefore the book's lens of food anxiety matters for social theory and for understanding the embeddedness and discontinuities of food globalizations in Vietnam and beyond Due to its rich empirical base methodological approaches and thematic foci it will appeal to scholars practitioners and students alike

Experiments in Skin Thuy Linh Nguyen Tu, 2021-02-22 In Experiments in Skin Thuy Linh Nguyen Tu examines the ongoing influence of the Vietnam War on contemporary ideas about race and beauty Framing skin as the site around which these ideas have been formed Tu foregrounds the histories of militarism in the production of US biomedical knowledge and commercial cosmetics She uncovers the efforts of wartime scientists in the US Military Dermatology Research Program to alleviate the environmental and chemical risks to soldiers skin These dermatologists sought relief for white soldiers while denying that African American soldiers and Vietnamese civilians were also vulnerable to harm Their experiments led to the development of pharmaceutical cosmetics now used by women in Ho Chi Minh City to tend to their skin and to grapple with the damage caused by the war's lingering toxicity. In showing how the US military laid the foundations for contemporary Vietnamese consumption of cosmetics and practices of beauty, Tu shows how the intersecting histories of militarism, biomedicine, race, and aesthetics become materially and metaphorically visible on skin.
