In the Beginning Were Stories, Not Texts C.S. Song,2011-11-14 The Christian Bible is fundamentally a story Writers

painters sculptors artists and indeed people of all walks of life live by the telling of their stories Stories are the most basic mode of human communication Thus it is vital to ask why Christians and above all Christian theologians so often fail to express their faith in terms of story The vast majority of the Hebrew Scriptures for example consist of stories Jesus proclaimed and taught about the Reign of God through stories and parables At the heart of the Christian faith are stories not concepts propositions or ideas Given the deep rootedness of the Christian faith in storytelling this book seeks to address the fact that Christian theology has too often taken the form of concepts ideas and systems This book is an attempt to speak of Christian faith and theology in stories rather than systems Through stories both biblical and non biblical this book shows how we might reimagine the task of Christian theology in the life of faith today At its heart is the conviction that in the beginning there were stories and that in the end and indeed beyond the end are stories not texts ideas and concepts

Printed editions of midrashim rabbinic expositions of the Bible flooded the market for Hebrew books in the sixteenth century First published by Iberian immigrants to the Ottoman Empire they were later reprinted in large numbers at the famous Hebrew presses of Venice This study seeks to shed light on who read these new books and how they did so by turning to the many commentaries on midrash written during the sixteenth century These innovative works reveal how their authors studied rabbinic Bible interpretation and how they anticipated their readers would do so Benjamin Williams focuses particularly on the work of Abraham ben Asher of Safed the Or ha Sekhel Venice 1567 an elucidation of midrash Genesis Rabba which contains both the author's own interpretations and also the commentary he mistakenly attributed to the most celebrated medieval commentator Rashi Williams examines what is known of Abraham ben Asher's life his place among the Jewish scholars of Safed and the publication of his book in Venice By analysing selected passages of his commentary this study assesses how he shed light on rabbinic interpretation of Genesis and guided readers to correct interpretations of the words of the sages A consideration of why Abraham ben Asher published a commentary attributed to Rashi shows that he sought to lend authority to his programme of studying midrash by including interpretations ascribed to the most famous commentator alongside his own By analysing the production and reception of the Or ha Sekhel therefore this work illuminates the popularity of midrash in the early modern period and the origins of a practice which is now well established the study of rabbinic Bible interpretation with the guidance of commentaries Friends' Review Samuel Rhoads, Enoch Lewis, 1887 Australian National Bibliography , 1978 Christian Advocate , 1909
