Monmonier, 1987 When the University of Chicago Press launched the landmark History of Cartography series nearly thirty years ago founding editors J B Harley and David Woodward hoped to create a new basis for map history They did not however anticipate the larger renaissance in map studies that the series would inspire But as the renown of the series and the comprehensiveness and acuity of the present volume demonstrate the history of cartography has proven to be unexpectedly fertile ground Cartography in the European Renaissance treats the period from 1450 to 1650 long considered the most important in the history of European mapping This period witnessed a flowering in the production of maps comparable to that in the fields of literature and fine arts Scientific advances appropriations of classical mapping techniques burgeoning trade routes all such massive changes drove an explosion in the making and using of maps While this volume presents detailed histories of mapping in such well documented regions as Italy and Spain it also breaks significant new ground by treating Renaissance Europe in its most expansive geographical sense giving careful attention to often neglected regions like Scandinavia East Central Europe and Russia and by providing innovative interpretive essays on the technological scientific cultural and social aspects of cartography Lavishly illustrated with more than a thousand maps many in color the two volumes of Cartography in the European Renaissance will be the unsurpassable standard in its field both defining it and propelling it forward The Black Press Todd Vogel, 2001 The Black Press progresses chronologically from abolitionist newspapers to today s Internet and reveals how the black press s content and its very form changed with evolving historical conditions in America Literature, Geography, and the Postmodern Poetics of Place E. Prieto, 2012-12-28 Using contemporary literary representations of place this study focuses on works that have participated in the emergence of new conceptions of place and new place based identities The analyses draw on research in cultural geography cognitive science urban sociology and globalization studies The Routledge Handbook of Methodologies in Human Geography Sarah A. Lovell, Stephanie E. Coen, Mark W. Rosenberg, 2022-10-18 The Routledge Handbook of Methodologies in Human Geography is the defining reference for academics and postgraduate students seeking an advanced understanding of the debates methodological developments and methods transforming research in human geography Divided into three sections Part I reviews how the methods of contemporary human geography reflect the changing intellectual history of human geography and events both within human geography and society in general In Part II authors critically appraise key methodological and theoretical challenges and opportunities that are shaping contemporary research in various parts of human geography. Contemporary directions within the discipline are elaborated on by established and emerging researchers who are leading ontological debates and the adoption of innovative methods in geographic research. In Part III authors explore cross cutting methodological challenges and prompt questions about the values and goals underpinning geographical research work such as Who are we engaging in our research? Who is our research for? What are our relationships with communities? Contributors emphasize examples from their research and the research of others to reflect the fluid emotional and pragmatic realities of research. This handbook captures key methodological developments and disciplinary influences emerging from the various sub disciplines of human geography.
