Geography Application Movement P The Roads Of The Roman Empire:

The Application of GIS Technologies in the Roman Period Pedro Trapero Fernández, 2024-12-12 Using a selection of archaeological cases studies from the Roman period in the Mediterranean region Pedro Trapero Fernández shows how GIS technologies can be employed in the creation of spatial models to reproduce historical realities An increasing number of researchers use this digital humanities tool as a means to model both territory and landscape This book compiles different spatial models under a unified methodology described in separated chapters such as mobility and visibility models and discusses their limitations and potential for implementation in archaeological contexts The result is a detailed analysis of each method which consequently results in an accessible manual for understanding GIS technologies Designed for students and scholars with varying degrees of training in GIS who intend to carry out spatial analysis and historical models the approach of this book establishes a reference framework to work with GIS technologies in other historical periods Trapero concludes by discussing the future of GIS and spatial analysis and how it can be studied and used as a methodological approach in archaeological practice and research Rome, Ostia, Pompeii: Movement and Space. Ray Laurence, David J. Newsome, 2011-11-24 Rome Ostia Pompeii Movement and Space demonstrates how studies of the Roman city are shifting focus from static architecture to activities and motion within urban spaces This volume provides detailed case studies from the three best known cities from Roman Italy revealing how movement contributes to our understanding of the ways different elements of society interacted in space and how the movement of people and materials shaped urban development The chapters in this book examine the impressions left by the movement of people and vehicles as indentations in the archaeological and historical record and as impressions upon the Roman urban consciousness Through a broad range of historical issues this volume studies movement as it is found at the city gate in public squares and on the street and as it is represented in texts Its broad objective is to make movement meaningful for understanding the economic cultural political religious and infrastructural behaviours that produced different types and rhythms of interaction in the Roman city This volume s interdisciplinary approach will inform the understanding of the city in classics ancient history archaeology and architectural history as well as cultural studies town planning urban geography and sociology The Rise of Early Rome Francesca Fulminante, 2023-08-31 Focusing on transportation systems in Etruria and Latium Italy from ca 1000 500 BC this book explores Rome s rise to power A Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography William Smith, 1878 Landscapes and the Augustan Revolution Sergio España-Chamorro, María del Carmen Moreno Escobar, 2025-07-09 This book centres on the transformation of landscapes focusing on the Western Mediterranean during the end of the Roman Republic and the Early Roman Empire This volume brings together diverse contributions that utilise both theoretical and practical approaches from landscape studies and archaeology to examine the transitions to the Empire in the provincial landscapes of the western Roman Empire Focusing on wider processes of change and continuity identified through diverse approaches e g settlement patterns mobility and communication and military expansion and methods e g spatial analysis remote sensing and GIS the contributions highlight the profound socio economic political and environmental factors whose interplay shaped the region In doing so the book underscores the agency of local communities in shaping their landscapes and their varied responses to Imperial policies thus generating new insights into the processes of social and political change brought about by Augustan reforms and how these were implemented and experienced at the local level This book will be of interest to students and researchers of archaeology and ancient history particularly those focused on Roman and landscape archaeology

Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography William Smith,1856 Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World

Andrew Tibbs,Peter B. Campbell,2023-11-30 Taking a broad geographical temporal and cross disciplinary approach this volume explores new and innovative research which focuses on rivers and waterways from across the Roman world Rivers and Waterways in the Roman World brings together cross disciplinary chapters focussing on theoretical approaches new digital and scientific methods and analytical techniques and related surveying and excavation case studies to examine the Romans extensive use of rivers and inland waterways around the Empire Roman seafaring is well studied but this book expands our knowledge of Roman transport communication and trade networks inland The book highlights the challenges of archaeological work in the dynamic environments of rivers and waterways and showcases the use of new methodologies including the increasing availability and accessibility of digital technologies that have led to a growth in the development and application of new archaeological and analytical techniques as well as the discovery of new archaeological sites many of which were previously inaccessible This book is for archaeologists historians classicists and geographers with an interest in the history and archaeology of the Roman Empire Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography: Iabadius-Zymethus

William Smith,1854 A Classical Dictionary of Greek and Roman Biography, Mythology and Geography, Based on the Larger Dictionaries William Smith,1894 The Scientist in the Early Roman Empire Richard Carrier,2017-12-01 In this extensive sequel to Science Education in the Early Roman Empire Dr Richard Carrier explores the social history of scientists in the Roman era Was science in decline or experiencing a revival under the Romans What was an ancient scientist thought to be and do Who were they and who funded their research And how did pagans differ from their Christian peers in their views toward science and scientists Some have claimed Christianity valued them more than their pagan forebears In fact the reverse is the case And this difference in values had a catastrophic effect on the future of humanity The Romans may have been just a century or two away from experiencing a scientific revolution But once in power Christianity kept that progress on hold for a thousand years while forgetting most of what the pagans had achieved and discovered from an empirical anatomy physiology and brain science to an experimental physics of water gravity and air Thoroughly referenced and painstakingly researched this volume is a must for anyone who wants to learn how far we once got and why we took so long to get to where we are today

TRAC 2014 Tom Brindle, Martyn Allen, Emma Durham, Alex Smith, 2015-04-02 This volume contains a selection of papers presented at TRAC 2014 as well as some invited contributions In keeping with the aims of TRAC several papers make innovative use of interdisciplinary theory in humanistic geography philosophy and archaeology social psychology and the cognitive science of religion in the study of Roman monuments military social history and religion Other papers share a common theme the critical interpretation of archaeological evidence A more careful consideration of non grave good pottery sherds from graves suggests that these often disregarded items potentially shed light on funerary rites which are usually considered to be invisible the potential importance of plant remains particularly of exotic and rare species in ritual deposits is examined and a new perspective on the negative aspects of Roman conquest of Northern Gaul presented New approaches towards our understanding of space and landscape in the Roman world comprise an examination of the suburbs of ancient Rome and preliminary results of an ongoing project exploring the relationship between wetland landscapes and domestic settlements presenting a case study from Spain

A Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography by Various Writers Sir William Smith, 1872

Finding the Limits of the Limes Philip Verhagen, Jamie Joyce, Mark R. Groenhuijzen, 2019-02-08 This open access book demonstrates the application of simulation modelling and network analysis techniques in the field of Roman studies It summarizes and discusses the results of a 5 year research project carried out by the editors that aimed to apply spatial dynamical modelling to reconstruct and understand the socio economic development of the Dutch part of the Roman frontier limes zone in particular the agrarian economy and the related development of settlement patterns and transport networks in the area The project papers are accompanied by invited chapters presenting case studies and reflections from other parts of the Roman Empire focusing on the themes of subsistence economy demography transport and mobility and socio economic networks in the Roman period The book shows the added value of state of the art computer modelling techniques and bridges computational and conventional approaches Topics that will be of particular interest to archaeologists are the question of forced surplus production the demographic and economic effects of the Roman occupation on the local population and the structuring of transport networks and settlement patterns For modellers issues of sensitivity analysis and validation of modelling results are specifically addressed This book will appeal to students and researchers working in the computational humanities and social sciences in particular archaeology and ancient history

A Classical Dictionary of Greek and Roman Biography, Mythology and Geography William Smith, 1904

An Historical Geography of Europe Robin Alan Butlin, Robert A. Dodgshon, 1998 An Historical Geography of Europe represents the first multi authored comprehensive study on the subject It provides the reader with an analytical and explanatory account of European historical geography from classical times to the modern period including the vast changes to landscape settlements population and in political and cultural structures and character that have taken place since 1500 The book takes account of the vast volume of relevant research and literature that has been published over the past two or three decades in order to achieve a unique coverage and synthesis of this very broad range of evidence and opinion and has tried to engage with many of the main themes and debates to give a clear indication of changing ideas and interpretations of the subject This book brings together British and European authors from a number of disciplines who have considerable distinction in the various fields of historical geography and related fields including a significant number who have already written on the wider problem of European historical geography It is amply illustrated with maps and diagrams to present many of the issues in a visual form

Cartographies of Travel and Navigation James R. Akerman, 2010-11-15 Finding one's way with a map is a relatively recent phenomenon In premodern times maps were used if at all mainly for planning journeys in advance not for guiding travelers on the road With the exception of navigational sea charts the use of maps by travelers only became common in the modern era indeed in the last two hundred years maps have become the most ubiquitous and familiar genre of modern cartography Examining the historical relationship between travelers navigation and maps Cartographies of Travel and Navigation considers the cartographic response to the new modalities of modern travel brought about by technological and institutional developments in the twentieth century Highlighting the ways in which the travelers operators and planners of modern transportation systems value maps as both navigation tools and as representatives of a radical new mobility this collection brings the cartography of travel by road sea rail and air to the forefront placing maps at the center of the history of travel and movement Richly and colorfully illustrated Cartographies of Travel and Navigation ably fills the void in historical literature on transportation mapping

Past Mobilities Jim Leary, 2016-05-13 The new mobilities paradigm has yet to have the same impact on archaeology as it has in other disciplines in the social sciences on geography sociology and anthropology in particular yet mobility is fundamental to archaeology all people move Moving away from archaeology's traditional focus upon place or location this volume treats mobility as a central theme in archaeology The chapters are wide ranging and methodological as well as theoretical focusing on the flows of people ideas objects and information in the past they also focus on archaeology's distinctiveness Drawing on a wealth of archaeological evidence for movement from paths monuments rock art and boats to skeletal and DNA evidence Past Mobilities presents research from a range of examples from around the world to explore the relationship between archaeology and movement thus adding an archaeological voice to the broader mobilities discussion As such it will be of interest not only to archaeologists and historians but also to sociologists geographers and anthropologists
