General Notes:

- This study schedule is designed around a four month period, but it can be compressed or expanded to fit a different time span.
- Find someone (or a group) to study with. A study partner will help defray the costs of the prep materials and will help in keeping you motivated.
- At least two weeks before the test (preferably a month before), set up a sleeping schedule where you go to bed and get up at the same times as you will on test day.
- Do some form of aerobic exercise at least three days a week and maintain a healthy diet.
- You will need an analog wristwatch that has a second's hand for timing. Make sure you practice with the same watch that you'll be using on test day, so to familiarize yourself with the watch.
- Study in places where there are distractions, so you can learn how to ignore them (i.e. the reading room at the library, a coffee shop, etc.).
- Read everything. Dense novels: Joyce, Faulkner, etc. News publications: The New York Times, the Economist, etc. Journals: American Scientific, etc. (all of these materials can be found at the UNH library).
- Find a method of timing that works for you (the PowerScore books have an informative section on this).
- A good way to take practice tests is to take the test at 8:00am, have lunch, and then go over the test in the afternoon.
- On days when you are not testing, go over questions from previous tests that you either got wrong or struggled with.
- If you get behind on the testing schedule, and you cannot catch-up, skip to the more recent tests because the test has evolved over time so you want to make sure that you've taken the most recent tests because they will be the most like the test you'll see on your actual test day.
- If you are a current student, I recommend that you take either the June or October administration. I favor the October administration because it gives you the whole summer to study.
- Visit the law school discussion forum, Top-Law-Schools, found here: <http://www.top-law-schools.com/> . There is a wealth of knowledge on this site about the LSAT and applying for law school in general. As a disclaimer, neither I nor UNH is responsible for the material on the website, so visit at your own discretion.
- Always use a bubble sheet when doing timed tests. Transferring answers takes a few seconds and you want this to be reflected in your practice.
- If you are serious about doing well on the LSAT, you should be prepared to invest at least 20 hours a week into studying for a four month period.
