Nature, Nurture, and Human Diversity

CHAPTER OVERVIEW

Chapter 3 is concerned with the ways in which our biological heritage, or nature, interacts with our individual experiences, or nurture, to shape who we are. After a brief explanation of basic terminology, the chapter explores the fields of behavior genetics, which studies twins and adopted children to weigh genetic and environmental influences on behaviors, and molecular genetics, which focuses on the specific genes that influence behavior. The next section discusses psychology's use of evolutionary principles to answer universal questions about human behavior.

The next two sections of the chapter shift the spotlight to focus on environmental influences on behavior. The impact of parents, the prenatal environment, early experience, peers, and culture on the development of the brain and behavior are each discussed in depth. The final section of the chapter explores how genes and environment interact to shape both the biological and social aspects of our gender. In the end, the message is clear: our genes and our experience together form who we are.

NOTE: Answer guidelines for all Chapter 3 questions begin on page 87.

CHAPTER REVIEW

First, skim each section, noting headings and boldface items. After you have read the section, review each objective by answering the fill-in and essay-type questions that follow it. As you proceed, evaluate your performance by consulting the answers beginning on page 87. Do not continue with the next section until you understand each answer. If you need to, review or reread the section in the textbook before continuing.

2. Our similarities as human beings include our common _____, our shared _____ architecture, our ability to use _____, and our _____ behaviors.
3. A fundamental question in psychology deals with the extent to which we are shaped by our heredity, called our _____, and by our life history, called our _____.

Behavior Genetics: Predicting Individual Differences (pp. 96–107)

David Myers at times uses idioms that are unfamiliar to some readers. If you do not know the meaning of the following words, phrases, or expressions in the context in which they appear in the text, refer to pages 93–94 for an explanation: To disentangle the threads of heredity and environment, behavior geneticists often use two sets of tweezers; blue-collar families; stories of startling twin similarity; “Mom may be holding a full house while Dad has a straight flush”; gen; the area of a field is more the result of its length or width; skunk; Blueprints; two-edged sword.
