Data and Research to Improve the U.S. Food Availability System and Estimates of Food Loss National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition

Board, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, 2015-01-02 The United States Department of Agriculture's USDA's Economic Research Service's ERS Food Availability Data System includes three distinct but related data series on food and nutrient availability for consumption. The data serve as popular proxies for actual consumption at the national level for over 200 commodities, e.g., fresh spinach, beef, and eggs. The core Food Availability (FA) data series provides data on the amount of food available per capita for human consumption in the United States with data back to 1909 for many commodities. The Loss Adjusted Food Availability (LAFA) data series is derived from the FA data series by adjusting for food spoilage, plate waste, and other losses to more closely approximate actual intake. The LAFA data provide daily estimates of the per capita availability amounts adjusted for loss, e.g., in pounds, ounces, grams, and gallons, as appropriate calories, and food pattern equivalents, i.e., servings of the five major food groups: fruit, vegetables, grains, meat, and dairy available for consumption, plus the amounts of added sugars and sweeteners and added fats and oils available for consumption. This fiscal year, as part of its initiative to systematically review all of its major data series, ERS decided to review the FADS data system. One of the goals of this review is to advance the knowledge and understanding of the measurement and technical aspects of the data supporting FADS so the data can be maintained and improved. Data and Research to Improve the U.S. Food Availability System and Estimates of Food Loss is the summary of a workshop convened by the Committee on National Statistics of the National Research Council and the Food and Nutrition Board of the Institute of Medicine to advance knowledge and understanding of the measurement and technical aspects of the data supporting the LAFA data series so that these data series and subsequent food availability and food loss estimates can be maintained and improved. The workshop considered such issues as the effects of termination of selected Census Bureau and USDA data series on estimates for affected food groups and commodities; the potential for using other data sources such as scanner data to improve estimates of food availability and possible ways to improve the data on food loss at the farm and retail levels and at restaurants. This report considers knowledge gaps, data sources that may be available or could be generated to fill gaps, what can be learned from other countries and international organizations, ways to ensure consistency of treatment of commodities across series, and the most promising opportunities for new data for the various food availability series.

University Trends Jonathan Coulson, Paul Roberts, Isabelle Taylor, 2014-09-15 A university campus is a place with special resonance conjuring images of cloistered quadrangles and wood panelled libraries often echoing centuries of scholarly tradition. And yet it is also a place of cutting edge science, interactive learning, youth vibrancy and energy. It is this dual nature which makes the physical environment of a university so dynamic as well as a highly challenging landscape to design and manage successfully. Today the scale of the pressures and the rate of change facing higher education institutions are greater than ever. Squeezed public spending, rising tuition fees, and the growing education ambitions of developing nations are set against a backdrop of rapid technological progress and changing pedagogies. What are the repercussions for the physical realities of university planning and architecture And how are university campuses adapting to contend with these pressures University Trends introduces the most significant widespread and thought provoking trends in campus design today Part 1 identifies current trends such as starchitecture large scale campus extensions adaptive re use and international branch campuses Part 2 profiles each trend via highly illustrated global case studies of well publicised as well as lesser known projects The essential guide to current and future trends in campus design The Meritocracy Trap Daniel

Markovits,2020-09-08 A revolutionary new argument from eminent Yale Law professor Daniel Markovits attacking the false promise of meritocracy It is an axiom of American life that advantage should be earned through ability and effort Even as the country divides itself at every turn the meritocratic ideal that social and economic rewards should follow achievement rather than breeding reigns supreme Both Democrats and Republicans insistently repeat meritocratic notions Meritocracy cuts to the heart of who we are It sustains the American dream But what if both up and down the social ladder meritocracy is a sham Today meritocracy has become exactly what it was conceived to resist a mechanism for the concentration and dynastic transmission of wealth and privilege across generations Upward mobility has become a fantasy and the embattled middle classes are now more likely to sink into the working poor than to rise into the professional elite At the same time meritocracy now ensnares even those who manage to claw their way to the top requiring rich adults to work with crushing intensity exploiting their expensive educations in order to extract a return All this is not the result of deviations or retreats from meritocracy but rather stems directly from meritocracy s successes This is the radical argument that Daniel Markovits prosecutes with rare force Markovits is well placed to expose the sham of meritocracy Having spent his life at elite universities he knows from the inside the corrosive system we are trapped within Markovits also knows that if we understand that meritocratic inequality produces near universal harm we can cure it When The Meritocracy Trap reveals the inner workings of the meritocratic machine it also illuminates the first steps outward towards a new world that might once again afford dignity and prosperity to the American people Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A. Plucker,Scott J.

Peters,2020-01-15 2017 Texas Association for Gifted and Talented Legacy Scholar Book Award 2017 National Association of Gifted Children Scholar Book of the Year Award In Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A Plucker and Scott J Peters shine a spotlight on excellence gaps the achievement gaps among subgroups of students performing at the highest levels of achievement Much of the focus of recent education reform has been on closing gaps in achievement between students from different racial ethnic or socioeconomic backgrounds by bringing all students up to minimum levels of proficiency Yet issues related to excellence gaps have been largely absent from discussions about how to improve our schools and communities Plucker and Peters argue that these significant gaps reflect the existence of a persistent talent underclass in the United States among African American Hispanic Native American and poor students resulting in an incalculable loss of potential among our fastest growing populations Drawing on the latest research and a wide range of national and international data

the authors outline the scope of the problem and make the case that excellence gaps should be targeted for elimination They identify promising interventions for talent development already underway in schools and provide a detailed review of potential strategies including universal screening flexible grouping targeted programs and psychosocial interventions Excellence Gaps in Education has the potential for changing our national conversation about equity and excellence and bringing fresh attention to the needs of high potential students from underrepresented backgrounds Sovereign Funds

Zongyuan Zoe Liu,2023-06-20 The first in depth account of the sudden growth of China s sovereign wealth funds and their transformative impact on global markets domestic and multinational businesses and international politics One of the keys to China s global rise has been its strategy of deploying sovereign wealth on behalf of state power Since President Xi Jinping took office in 2013 China has doubled down on financial statecraft making shrewd investments with the sovereign funds it has built up by leveraging its foreign exchange reserves Sovereign Funds tells the story of how the Communist Party of China CPC became a global financier of surpassing ambition Zongyuan Zoe Liu offers a comprehensive and up to date analysis of the evolution of China s sovereign funds including the China Investment Corporation the State Administration of Foreign Exchange and Central Huijin Investment Liu shows how these institutions have become mechanisms not only for transforming low reward foreign exchange reserves into investment capital but also for power projection Sovereign funds are essential drivers of the national interest shaping global markets advancing the historic Belt and Road Initiative and funneling state assets into strategic industries such as semiconductors fintech and artificial intelligence In the era of President Xi state owned financial institutions have become gatekeepers of the Chinese economy Political and personal relationships with prestigious sovereign funds have enabled Blackstone to flourish in China and have fueled the ascendance of private tech giants such as Alibaba Ant Finance and Didi As Liu makes clear sovereign funds are not just for oil exporters The CPC is a leader in both foreign exchange reserves investment and economic statecraft using state capital to encourage domestic economic activity and create spheres of influence worldwide Higher Expectations

Derek Bok,2022-05-17 How our colleges and universities can respond to the changing hopes and needs of society In recent decades cognitive psychologists have cast new light on human development and given colleges new possibilities for helping students acquire skills and qualities that will enhance their lives and increase their contributions to society In this landmark book Derek Bok explores how colleges can reap the benefits of these discoveries and create a more robust undergraduate curriculum for the twenty first century Prior to this century most psychologists thought that creativity empathy resilience conscientiousness and most personality traits were largely fixed by early childhood What researchers have now discovered is that virtually all of these qualities continue to change through early adulthood and often well beyond Such findings suggest that educators may be able to do much more than was previously thought possible to teach students to develop these important characteristics and thereby enable them to flourish in later life How prepared are educators to cultivate these qualities of mind and behavior

What do they need to learn to capitalize on the possibilities Will college faculties embrace these opportunities and make the necessary changes in their curricula and teaching methods What can be done to hasten the process of innovation and application In providing answers to these questions Bok identifies the hurdles to institutional change proposes sensible reforms and demonstrates how our colleges can help students lead more successful productive and meaningful lives The Gamification of Higher Education N. Niman,2014-07-17 Instead of thinking about education as the mastery of a body of knowledge where the subject matter becomes the focus of our attention The Gamification of Higher Education encourages us to think of it as a process that draws out the best in individuals and prepares them for happy productive and successful lives

Air Pollution Governance in East Asia Kuei-Tien Chou,Koichi Hasegawa,Dowan Ku,Shu-Fen Kao,2022-04-19 Focusing on Taiwan South Korea Japan and Mainland China the contributors to this book analyze various cases of air pollution within East Asia Air pollution in East Asia is a major health risk which also has damaging impacts on the environment leading to impacts on society economic growth and welfare While existing laws and policies have made progress in alleviating air pollution in each country in the region the protection of favorable environments and the resolution of transboundary air pollution problems have become major targets of regional cooperation Combining perspectives from social sciences and science technology and society studies the contributors to this book examine both the technical and socioeconomic political aspects of these challenges through a range of case studies from around the region The book is a valuable read for researchers and policymakers looking at air pollution and transboundary governance challenges within and beyond East Asia

Governance and City Regions Karsten Zimmermann,Patricia Feiertag,2021-12-24 City regions are areas where the daily journeys for work shopping and leisure frequently cross administrative boundaries They are seen as engines of the national economy but are also facing congestion and disparities Thus all over the world governments attempt to increase problem solving capacities in city regions by institutional reform and a shift of functions This book analyses the recent reforms and changes in the governance of city regions in France Germany and Italy It covers themes such as the impact of austerity measures territorial development planning and state modernisation The authors provide a systematic cross country perspective on two levels between six city regions and between the national policy frameworks in these three countries They use a solid comparative framework which refers to the four dimensions functions institutions and governance ideas and space They describe the course of the reforms the motivations and the results and consequently they question the widespread metropolitan fever or resurgence of city regions and provide a better understanding of recent changes in city regional governance in Europe The primary readership will be researchers and master students in planning urban studies urban geography political science and governance studies especially those interested in metropolitan regions and or decentralisation Due to the uniqueness of the work the book will be of particular interest to scholars working on the comparative European dimension of territorial governance and planning The Open Access version of this book available at Schooling Corporate Citizens Ronald W. Evans, 2014-11-27 Schooling Corporate Citizens examines the full history of accountability reform in the United States from its origins in the 1970s and 1980s to the development of the Common Core in recent years. Based in extensive archival research, it traces the origins and development of accountability reform as marked by key government and business-led reports from A Nation at Risk to No Child Left Behind and Race to the Top. By using the lens of social studies and civic education as a means to understand the concrete impacts of accountability reforms on schools, Evans shows how reformers have applied principles of business management to schools in extreme ways, damaging civic education and undermining democratic learning. The first full-length narrative account of accountability reform and its impact on social studies and civic education, Schooling Corporate Citizens offers crucial insights to the ongoing process of American school reform, shedding light on its dilemmas and possibilities and allowing for thoughtful consideration of future reform efforts.
