Ligeti, Vanessa Franssen, 2017-02-23 In the past few years criminal justice systems have faced important global challenges in the field of economic and financial crime The 2008 financial crisis revealed how strongly financial markets and economies are interconnected and illustrated that misconduct in the economic and financial sectors is often of a systemic nature with wide spread consequences for a large number of victims The prevention control and punishment of such crimes is thus confronted with a strong globalisation Moreover continuous technological evolutions and socio economic developments make the distinction between socially desirable and undesirable behaviour more problematic Besides economic and financial misconduct is notoriously difficult to detect and investigate In light of these challenges legislators and law enforcers have been searching for adequate responses to combat economic and financial crime by adapting existing policies norms and practices and by creating new enforcement mechanisms The purpose of this volume is to analyse those challenges in the field of economic and financial crime from different perspectives and to examine which particular solutions criminal justice systems across Europe give to those challenges The volume has four parts The first part focuses on a number of key questions with respect to substantive criminal law whereas the second part will address issues affecting the administration of justice and criminal procedure Part three then explores particular challenges concerning multi agency cooperation and multi disciplinary investigations Finally part four will concentrate on issues regarding shared or integrated enforcement models

State Capitalism Joshua Kurlantzick, 2016 The end of the Cold War ushered in an age of American triumphalism best characterized by the Washington Consensus the idea that free markets democratic institutions limitations on government involvement in the economy and the rule of law were the foundations of prosperity and stability The last fifteen years starting with the Asian financial crisis have seen the gradual erosion of that consensus Many commentators have pointed to the emergence of a powerful new rival model state capitalism In state capitalist regimes the government typically owns firms in strategic industries Not beholden to private sector shareholders such firms are allowed to operate with razor thin margins if the state deems them strategically important China soon to be the world's largest economy is the best known state capitalist regime but it is hardly the only one In State Capitalism Joshua Kurlantzick ranges across the world China Thailand Brazil Russia South Africa Turkey and more and argues that the increase in state capitalism across the globe has on balance contributed to a decline in democracy He isolates some of the reasons for state capitalism's resurgence the fact that globalization favors economies of scale in the most critical industries and the widespread rejection of the Washington Consensus in the face of the problems that have plagued the world economy in recent years That said a number of democratic nations have embraced state capitalism and in those regimes state backed firms like Brazil's Embraer have enjoyed considerable success Kurlantzick highlights the mixed record and the evolving nature of the model yet he is more concerned about the negative effects of state capitalism When states control firms whether in democratic or authoritarian regimes the government increases its advantage over the rest of society The combination of new technologies the perceived failures of liberal economics and democracy in many developing nations the rise of modern kinds of authoritarians and the success of some of the best known state capitalists have created an era ripe for state intervention State Capitalism offers the sharpest analysis yet of what state capitalism's emergence means for democratic politics around the world

Engines of Privilege David Kynaston, Francis Green, 2019-02-07

Thoroughly researched and written with such calm authority yet makes you want to scream with righteous indignation John O Farrell We can expect the manifesto writers at the next general election to pass magpie like over these chapters The appeal to act is heartfelt Financial Times _____ Includes a new chapter Moving Ahead Britain's private fee paying schools are institutions where children from affluent families have their privileges further entrenched through a high quality richly resourced education Engines of Privilege contends that in a society that mouths the virtues of equality of opportunity of fairness and of social cohesion the educational apartheid separating private schools from our state schools deploys our national educational resources unfairly blocks social mobility reproduces privilege down the generations and underpins a damaging democratic deficit in our society Francis Green and David Kynaston carefully examine options for change while drawing on the valuable lessons of history Clear vigorous prose is combined with forensic analysis to powerful effect illuminating the painful contrast between the importance of private schools in British society and the near absence of serious policy shaping debate _____ An excoriating account of the inequalities perpetuated by Britain's love affair with private schools The Times

Governing Access to Essential Resources Katharina Pistor, Olivier De Schutter, 2015-12-08 Essential resources do more than satisfy people's needs They ensure a dignified existence Since the competition for essential resources particularly fresh water and arable land is increasing and standard legal institutions such as property rights and national border controls are strangling access to resources for some while delivering prosperity to others many are searching for ways to ensure their fair distribution This book argues that the division of essential resources ought to be governed by a combination of Voice and Reflexivity Voice is the ability of social groups to choose the rules by which they are governed Reflexivity is the opportunity to question one's own preferences in light of competing claims and to accommodate them in a collective learning process Having investigated the allocation of essential resources in places as varied as Cambodia China India Kenya Laos Morocco Nepal the arid American West and peri urban areas in West Africa the contributors to this volume largely concur with the viability of this policy and normative framework Drawing on their expertise in law environmental studies anthropology history political science and economics they weigh the potential of Voice and Reflexivity against such alternatives as pricing mechanisms property rights common resource management political might or brute force

US Economic Aid in Egypt Dina Jadallah, 2016-01-27 Economic aid is one of the cornerstones of the Egyptian American relationship and plays a significant role in promoting US policy objectives in the Middle East Focusing on the latter half of Hosni Mubarak s rule Dina Jadallah argues that through its aid policy the US has attempted to use a reforming and democratising narrative to transform Egypt into a stable market democracy that would be aligned with US interests in the region This aim has been pursued in conjunction with one that promoted a comprehensive warm peace with Israel By highlighting the opposition within Egypt to US aid Jadallah analyses the key issues that came to the fore during the 2010 11 protests in the country and led to the downfall of Mubarak Extending her analysis into the post revolutionary period the author provides interviews with regime insiders and prominent critics inside state institutions and outside who actively challenged the regime This enables her to assess the different perceptions of US aid both under Mubarak and in the current political situation contributing to an incisive analysis of modern Egypt and its relations with its superpower ally in the region
