Fac Customer Service Contact:

Tourist Customer Service Satisfaction Francis Noe, Muzaffer Uysal, Vincent Magnini, 2010-10-04 Customer satisfaction and loyalty in the tourism sector is highly dependent upon the behaviours of front line service providers. Service is about people how they relate to one another fulfill each other's needs and ultimately care for each other. Yet surprisingly there are few or any books which focus on the detailed specifics of the social exchange and interaction between the service provider and customer. Tourist Customer Service Satisfaction fully explores this relationship by defining the specific kind of verbal and non verbal messages needed for successful exchanges outlining how the service provider ought to behave cope in a situation as well as detailing positive approaches that enhance a service provider's role performance. The book uses encounter theory to examine the customer provider relationship as well as drawing on current research and theories from hospitality tourism management psychology bodies of literature. In doing so the book offers important insight into how employee centric competitive advantage in this sector can be achieved in various markets. This book is unique in its approach by focusing on the specifics of the social exchange and interaction between the service provider and customer. It therefore offers a novel synthesis of knowledge on service satisfaction in the tourism sector which will serve as valuable pedagogical and research reference for students and academics interested in hospitality and tourism. of Work M.C. Lebitso, 2012-08-30 Work has always been part of man's history and a crucial factor in social organisation. According to the traditional career development perspective work is viewed as having many dimensions or functions. The intention of this book is to highlight challenges faced by students when they are ready to enter the world of work after leaving school or after finishing tertiary education. The Virtual Public Servant Stephen Jeffares, 2020-11-30 With recent advances and investment in artificial intelligence are we on the verge of introducing virtual public servants? Governments around the world are rapidly deploying robots and virtual agents in healthcare education local government social care and criminal justice. These advances not only promise unprecedented levels of control and convenience at a reduced cost but also claim to connect to empathise and to build trust This book documents how after decades of designing out costly face to face transactions investment in call centres and incentivising citizens to self service the tech industry is promising to re humanise our frontline public services It breaks out of disciplinary silos and moves us on from the polarised hype vs fear discussion on the future of work It does so through in depth Q methodology interviews with a wide range of frontline public servants from doctors to librarians from social workers to school receptionists and from police officers to call handlers The first of its kind this book should be of interest across the social sciences and to anyone concerned with how recent measures to digitise and automate our services are paving the way for the development of full blown AI in frontline work
