Algorithms for the People Josh Simons, 2025-07-08 How to put democracy at the heart of AI governance Artificial intelligence and machine learning are reshaping our world Police forces use them to decide where to send police officers judges to decide whom to release on bail welfare agencies to decide which children are at risk of abuse and Facebook and Google to rank content and distribute ads In these spheres and many others powerful prediction tools are changing how decisions are made narrowing opportunities for the exercise of judgment empathy and creativity In Algorithms for the People Josh Simons flips the narrative about how we govern these technologies Instead of examining the impact of technology on democracy he explores how to put democracy at the heart of AI governance Drawing on his experience as a research fellow at Harvard University a visiting research scientist on Facebook s Responsible AI team and a policy advisor to the UK s Labour Party Simons gets under the hood of predictive technologies offering an accessible account of how they work why they matter and how to regulate the institutions that build and use them He argues that prediction is political human choices about how to design and use predictive tools shape their effects Approaching predictive technologies through the lens of political theory casts new light on how democracies should govern political choices made outside the sphere of representative politics Showing the connection between technology regulation and democratic reform Simons argues that we must go beyond conventional theorizing of AI ethics to wrestle with fundamental moral and political questions about how the governance of technology can support the flourishing of democracy

This report examines the issues that need to be considered before the decision to proceed to costly expansions with long life spans and a structural influence on the local and national economy The report benefits from a case study of Chile

Diplomatic Cultures and International Politics Jason Dittmer, Fiona McConnell, 2015-11-06 This volume offers an interdisciplinary and critical analysis of the role of culture in diplomatic practice If diplomacy is understood as the practice of conducting negotiations between representatives of distinct communities or causes then questions of culture and the spaces of cultural exchange are at its core But what of the culture of diplomacy itself When and how did this culture emerge and what alternative cultures of diplomacy run parallel to it both historically and today How do particular spaces and places inform and shape the articulation of diplomatic cultures This volume addresses these questions by bringing together a collection of theoretically rich and empirically detailed contributions from leading scholars in history international relations geography and literary theory Chapters attend to cross cutting issues of the translation of diplomatic cultures the role of space in diplomatic exchange and the diversity of diplomatic cultures beyond the formal state system Drawing on a range of methodological approaches the contributors discuss empirical cases ranging from indigenous diplomacies of the Inuit Circumpolar Council to the European External Action Service the 1955 Bandung Conference the spatial imaginaries of mid twentieth century Balkan writer diplomats celebrity and missionary diplomacy and paradiplomatic narratives of The Hague The volume demonstrates that when approached from multiple disciplinary perspectives and understood as expansive and plural diplomatic cultures offer an important lens onto issues as diverse as global governance sovereignty regimes and geographical imaginations This book will be of much interest to students of public diplomacy foreign policy international organisations media and communications studies and IR in general
