4. With your left hand, slide the hand guard forward until its rear end is disengaged from the groove in the front end of the receiver. Now you can remove the hand guard from the barrel.

5. The Stock Group. Now remove the stock assembly from the barrel and receiver in the following manner:

1. Grasp the rear of the stock with your right hand and the barrel with your left hand, holding the point of your left hand up.

2. With your right forefinger, push the slide to the left.

3. Raise the muzzle end of the barrel about 15 degrees and remove the receiver from the stock alignment.

6. Operating Slide Spring and Guide. The next step is to remove the operating slide spring and the operating slide spring guide. This is done as follows:

1. Place the barrel on a table, muzzle to your left, with the operating slide handle up.

2. Grasp the shoulders of the operating slide spring guide between the thumb and forefinger of your right hand. With your left hand, steadying the barrel, pull the operating slide spring guide to the rear. This leaves the operating slide spring guide in its seat in the operating slide.

3. With your right hand, raise the operating slide spring guide slightly. Withdraw the operating slide spring to the left from the receiver.

4. Separate the operating slide from the operating slide spring guide.
