

Critical Reading Activity B-2: Electing the President

OBJECTIVES: Use the information in your textbook to complete the diagrams.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE SYSTEM

In 1788	In 1808	Today
Each state elects electors equal in the number of senators and representatives. The Electoral College voted for presidents in their own states. The electors with the most votes became president and the next state electors became president.	The 12th Amendment requires electors to cast separate ballots for president and vice president. It also requires electors to cast ballots for one person.	Presidents are elected by electors. The president and vice president, both for all states equally, electors in their states. The Electoral College of electors elects the president and vice president.

OBJECTIVES: Use the information in your textbook to complete the diagrams.

1. According to the information in your textbook, the Electoral College system is unique in that it is the only system that is based on electors, rather than the popular vote. The popular vote is the only system that is based on electors, rather than the popular vote.
2. Another Electoral College is the only party system that is based on electors, rather than the popular vote. The Electoral College is the only system that is based on electors, rather than the popular vote.
3. It also allows voters to elect the president, and voters electors of the Electoral College to elect the president.
4. The president elects all the Electoral College members to be a member of the Electoral College.
