

The Living ConstitutionSection 1

The Preamble and Article 1: The Legislature

Terms and Names

Preamble: Introduction to the Constitution

Congress: National legislature

House of Representatives: Lower house of the national legislature

Senate: Upper house of the national legislature checks and balances: Provisions of the Constitution that keep one branch of the government from controlling the other two branches enumerated powers: Powers specifically granted in the Constitution

implied powers: Powers not specifically stated in the Constitution elastic clauses: Clause in the Constitution that allows Congress to pass laws necessary to carry out its enumerated powers

Before You Read

In the last section, you saw how the new government began to work under the Constitution. In this section, you will learn about the Constitution itself—how the Preamble introduces the Constitution and explains its purpose and how Article I sets up the Congress.

As You Read

Use an outline to take notes on the Preamble and on the powers of Congress.

PREAMBLE, PURPOSE OF THE CONSTITUTION (Page 154)*What does the Preamble do?

The Preamble, or introduction, sets out to do two things. The first is to show the legitimacy of the new government, or its right to rule. The Preamble shows that this government is based on the agreement of those who are to be governed. It is the people themselves who have the power to create a government. That is why the Constitution begins with, "We the people of the United States . . . do ordain and establish this Constitution."

This statement also shows that the legitimacy of this government does not come from the states. Instead, it comes from the people. The Confederation was an agreement among the states, and the national government was too weak.

The second purpose of the Preamble is to state why this new government is being formed:

- to improve the structure of the government,
- to create justice and peace within the nation,
- to protect the nation from outside attack,
