Oil Policy in the Gulf of Guinea Rudolf Traub-Merz, Douglas Andrew Yates, 2004 Maritime Security Cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea Ali Kamal-Deen, 2015-08-07 In Maritime Security Cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea Kamal Deen Ali provides ground breaking analyses of the maritime security situation in this area Maritime Security Cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea Kamal-Deen Ali, 2015-07-28 In Maritime Security Cooperation in the Guinea Prospects and Challenges Kamal Deen Ali provides ground breaking analyses of the maritime security situation in the Gulf of Guinea and its implications for shipping energy security sustainable fisheries as well as national and regional security The book juxtaposes the growing strategic importance of the Gulf of Guinea against the rising insecurity in the maritime domain especially from piracy Ali points out key gaps in prevailing regional and international approaches to maritime security cooperation in the Gulf of Guinea and sets out several suggestions for combating piracy as well as other maritime security threats while effectively enhancing maritime security cooperation in the region NOAA Technical Report NMFS. ,1984 Oil and Politics in the Gulf of Guinea Ricardo Soares de Oliveira, 2007 This book investigates the paradox at the heart of present day Gulf of Guinea politics The governance crisis festering throughout every one of the region s states ought to discourage outsiders from capital intensive long term commercial involvement and cast doubts over the political survival of ruling cliques However the presence of large petroleum deposits radically changes this equation the negative dynamics of state failure and wide spread violence affect the general population but spare the oil nexus The material and political resources made available by oil allow states to survive regardless of bad policies facilitate their governing elites material success regardless of reckless management earn international allies regardless of erratic domestic conduct and make companies want to invest regardless of risk The recent oil boom only strengthens this paradoxical viability Making possible what is arguably the largest inflow of resources into Africa in history it is of a different order from the short term viability afforded by the exploitation of other natural resources Nonetheless the partnership between insiders and outsiders that permits the extraction of oil is not conducive to positive long term outcomes in institution building or broad based economic growth Highly dependent on uninterrupted money flows and beset by various destabilising trends the political economy of oil in the Gulf of Guinea is poised in a state of permanent crisis The Exploration of the Gulf of Guinea. Part I. John Young Buchanan, 1888 Oil and Terrorism in the New Gulf James J. F. Forest, Matthew V. Sousa, 2006-01-01 Oil and Terrorism in the New Gulf promises to inform a lively debate over the future of U S foreign policies toward Africa This coherent integrated debate will engage policymakers and the academic community to ensure the success of the United States energy and national security agendas Threatened and Recently Extinct Vertebrates of the World Matthew Richardson, 2023-03-09 Habitat loss and degradation are currently the main anthropogenic causes of species extinctions The root cause is human overpopulation This unique volume provides for the very first time a comprehensive overview of all threatened and recently extinct mammals birds

reptiles amphibians and fishes within the context of their locations and habitats The approach takes a systematic examination of each biogeographic realm and region of the world both terrestrial and marine but with a particular emphasis on geographic features such as mountains islands and coral reefs It reveals patterns useful in biodiversity conservation helps to put it all into perspective and ultimately serves as both a baseline from which to compare subsequent developments as well as a standardization of the way threatened species are studied The Exploration of the Gulf of Guinea John Young Buchanan, 1888 In the Footsteps of Spanish Colonialism in Morocco and Equatorial Guinea Yolanda Aixelà Cabré, 2018 The failure to manage cultural diversity in Morocco and Equatorial Guinea in an egalitarian manner has been linked to the hallmark of colonialism First because the policy practiced upon Arabs and Moroccan Imazighen since the French colonization comprised one of the reasonings employed to justify the pro Arab policies developed after independence Second because the discriminatory policy deployed by Spain in Equatorial Guinea was overridden by the installation of a dictatorship that established a system of Fang predominance This book clarifies the degree to which the Spanish colonization is responsible for the present day management of cultural diversity in both countries
