Branded Bodies, Rhetoric, and the Neoliberal Nation-State Jennifer Wingard, 2012-11-29 Branded Bodies Rhetoric and the Neoliberal Nation State by Dr Jennifer Wingard explores how neoliberal economics has affected the rhetoric of the media and politics and how in very direct material ways it harms the bodies of some of the United States most vulnerable occupants The book is written at a moment when the promise of the liberal nation state in which the government purports to care for its citizens through social welfare programs financed by state funds is eroding Currently state policies are defined by neoliberal governmentality a form which privileges privatization and individual personal responsibility Instead of the promise of citizenship and the protections that come with it or the American Dream to use a more common euphemism the state uses certain bodies that will never be accepted as citizens as an underclass in service of capital think Guest Worker Programs And those underclassed bodies are identified through branding In order to demonstrate just how damaging branding has become Wingard offers readings of key pieces of legislation on immigration and GLBT rights and their media reception from the past twenty years By showing how brands are assembled to create affective threats Branded Bodies Rhetoric and the Neoliberal Nation State articulates how dangerous the branding of bodies has become and offers rhetorical strategies that can repair the damage to bodies caused by political branding Branded Bodies then is an intervention into the rhetorical practices of the nation state It attempts to clarify how the nation state uses brands to forward its claims of equality and freedom all the while condemning those who do not fit in to particular categories valued by the neoliberal state

Modern Phytochemical Methods Nikolaus H. Fischer, Murray B. Isman, Helen A. Stafford, 2012-12-06 This volume contains reviews which are based on a symposium given at the 30th meeting of The Phytochemical Society of North America held at Laval University in Quebec City Canada on August 11-15, 1990. During the past two decades there have been major new developments in methods which can be applied toward the isolation, separation, and structure determination of complex natural products. Therefore the topic of this symposium, Modern Phytochemical Methods, is a very timely one. The organizers of the symposium recognized that it would not be possible to cover in detail all new advances in phytochemical methodology. It was therefore decided to emphasize general reviews on recent developments of major separation techniques such as high performance liquid chromatography as well as supercritical fluid chromatography. In addition, advances in commonly used structure determination methods, mainly NMR and MS, are reviewed. Other topics include methodologies of micro sampling for isolation and analysis of trichome constituents as well as recent breakthroughs on biosynthetic studies of monoterpenes using enriched basal cells of trichomes. The volume concludes with a review of quantitative structure-activity relationship (QSAR) studies of biologically active natural products. In Chapter 1, K. Hostettmann and his colleagues give a general review of recent developments in the separation of natural products with major emphasis on preparative separations of biologically active plant constituents. The authors present a comparison of droplet countercurrent chromatography (OCCC) with the highly rapid and more versatile centrifugal partition chromatography (CPC).
