1. What I Learned vs. What I Expected From Taking the Course

I teach social studies at the middle school level and wanted to find out more how Oregon's past had shaped its present. Students should be able to make connections between the history of any part of the world and its present culture. I wanted to discover insights into the people who were responsible for Oregon's history, and generally gain fresh material in the form of documents, oral accounts, photos and museum displays that would help make the region's history come alive for students.

I have gained an enormous amount of information and understanding about local history from following the assignments in this course. In Portland, for example, the foresight of two men purchasing core acreage as a park reserve has given present day Portland a beautiful wooded section amidst all the asphalt and steel. I think it's important for children to know that these kinds of lessons from history can be used to guide our actions today--to learn we are not powerless, but can indeed make our mark on history like these men did.

In reading the diaries of pioneers and through oral interviews with local historians, I gained a deeper, more intimate appreciation for the inner strength and sheer determination required for people to make a journey of this kind. I also felt that the museum trips helped me to see better the multi-cultural aspect to our history, like when I visited the Pendleton Underground Museum and learned about the Chinese forced to live there. It is hard to accept that our history has passages as dark as those underground tunnels, and this makes it even more important to confront similar discriminatory attitudes and practices going on today with Hispanics, Middle Easterners, Jews and Asian peoples.

Overall, I would say my expectations were not only met, but they were exceeded compared to what I wanted to get from this course.

2. What Aspects of the Course Were Most Helpful & Why

I think the real advantage of this course is that I had the time to plan my own itinerary and visit historical spots first hand and talk to local historians. There is really no better teacher than hands-on experience; being able to visit the museums, see the underground tunnels, touch the old wagon ruts, in short, be there and, in doing so, be better able to imagine myself into the past reality. I also feel that reading the pioneer diaries was really helpful, as the personal accounts took history from the abstract and brought it home. I found the course workbook well designed and full of helpful book titles, and I like the fact that the assignments required me to get out and see history for myself.
