The Feminist Architecture of Postmodern Anti-Tales Kendra Reynolds, 2019-10-23 This monograph aims to counter the assumption that the anti tale is a subversive twin or dark side of the fairy tale coin instead it argues that the anti tale is a genre rich in complexity and radical potential that fundamentally challenges the damaging ideologies and socializing influence of fairy tales The Feminist Architecture of Postmodern Anti Tales Space Time and Bodies highlights how anti tales take up timely debates about revising old structures opening our minds up to a broader spectrum of experience or ways of viewing the world and its inhabitants They show us alternative architectures for the future by deconstructing established spatio temporal laws and structures as well as limited ideas surrounding the body and ultimately liberate us from the shackles of a single minded and simplistic masculine reality currently upheld by dominant social forces and patriarchal fairy tales themselves It is only when these masculine fairy tales and social architectures are deconstructed that new more inclusive feminine realities and futures can be brought into being

The Green Breast of the New World Louise H. Westling, 1996 In searching American literary landscapes for what they can reveal about our attitudes toward nature and gender The Green Breast of the New World considers symbolic landscapes in twentieth century American fiction the characters who inhabit those landscapes and the gendered traditions that can influence the figuration of both of these fictional elements In this century says Louise H Westling American literary responses to landscape and nature have been characterized by a puzzling mix of eroticism and misogyny celebration and mourning and reverence and disregard Focusing on problems of gender conflict and imperialist nostalgia The Green Breast of the New World addresses this ambivalence

Westling begins with a deep history of literary landscapes looking back to the archaic Mediterranean Mesopotamian traditions that frame European and American symbolic figurations of humans in the land Drawing on sources as ancient as the Sumerian Hymns to Innana and the Epic of Gilgamesh she reveals a tradition of male heroic identity grounded in an antagonistic attitude toward the feminized earth and nature This identity recently has been used to mask a violent destruction of wilderness and indigenous peoples in the fictions of progress that have shaped our culture Examining the midwestern landscapes of Willa Cather's Jim Burden and Ernest Hemingway's Nick Adams and the Mississippi Delta of William Faulkner's Thomas Sutpen and Isaac McCaslin and Eudora Welty's plantation families and small town dwellers Westling shows that these characters all participate in a cultural habit of gendering the landscape as female and then excusing their mistreatment of it by retreating into a nostalgia that erases their real motives displaces responsibility and takes refuge in attitudes of self pitying adoration
