

The Age of ImperialismLesson 2

Imperialism in Africa

Key Terms and People

paternalism governing in a “parental” way by providing for needs but not giving rights

assimilation absorbing colonized people into the culture of the imperialist nation

Menelik II leader of Ethiopian resistance

Before You Read

In the last lesson, you learned about the reasons for imperialism in Africa.

In this lesson, you will read about how the colonies were controlled.

As You Read

Take notes to answer questions about European imperialism in Africa.

A NEW PERIOD OF IMPERIALISM; A BRITISH COLONY

What forms and methods did imperialist nations use to control their colonies?

Each imperial power had goals for its colonies. Imperialist nations had four forms of control: colonies, protectorates, spheres of influence, and economic imperialism.

A colony is an area ruled by a foreign government. A protectorate runs its own daily affairs but is controlled by an imperialist nation. A sphere of influence is an area where an imperialist nation has exclusive economic rights. Economic imperialism refers to a situation where an independent nation is controlled by foreign businesses rather than foreign governments.

Imperialist nations also developed two basic methods to manage their colonies. France and other European nations used direct control. They felt native peoples could not handle the tough job of running a country. Instead, the imperialist power governed. This policy was called paternalism. The French also had a policy of assimilation. All colonial institutions were patterned after French institutions. The French hoped that the native peoples would learn French ways.

Britain used a system of indirect control. In this system, local rulers had power over daily matters. There were also councils of native people and government officials. These councils were supposed to help native people learn to govern themselves in the British method.
