Transactions of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia ,1897 Transactions of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia College of Physicians of Philadelphia,1897 The Making Of Religion Andrew Lang,2012 This book is annotated with a rare extensive biographical sketch of the author Andrew Lang written by Sir Edmund Gosse CB a contemporary poet and writer A review of Mr Lang s work would come late were it not that the book has been the subject of discussion for many years The author considers the modern science of the History of Religion to teach that Man derived the conception of Spirit from reflection on phenomena of sleep dreams death shadow and experiences of trance and hallucination Ghosts thus obtained became the first objects of belief and worship and were gradually magnified into gods of which in the end one became supreme on the other hand from belief in the survival of the soul grew the notion of immortality This system he proposes to study from fresh points of view In the first place he treats what he calls the X phenomena among savages clairvoyance crystalomancy second sight demoniacal possession and so on giving examples to show the prevalence of similar experiences he considers that their apparently supernatural character may have much to do with the theory of a separable soul and apparently inclines toward a belief in the verity at least of the occurrences The statements concerning the savage phenomena are not especially full the account not undertaking to exhibit a complete view of the department The second part of the treatise undertakes to supply a substitute for the nihilistic doctrine this is that the idea of God as to use the writer s words a primal eternal being author of all things the father and friend of man the invisible omniscient guardian of morality belongs to the lowest savages who reverence this supreme deity without idol worship or sacrifice as immutable impeccable all seeing benevolent and lovable To establish a doctrine so widely different from received opinion one would expect to find an elaborate examination of savage morality in its higher aspect but the scope of inquiry is limited the most important part of the examination being concerned with Australians as examples of the lowest intelligence and with their mysteries
