SS.2.1.19 – Evaluate key events, issues, and individuals related to the Civil War.
a. Explain the importance of the growing economic disparity between the North and the South through an examination of population, functioning railroads, and industrial output.
The North and South were vastly different regions in terms of their physical and economic resources at the time of the Civil War. Fighting the Civil War challenged both sides to field, equip, and maintain a military for the duration of the lengthy and costly war. The North had a better venue at the outset for conducting the war. There was a larger population in the North from which to draw soldiers, a more extensive transportation system to move resources, and much greater industrial output to equip soldiers to fight. The South was decidedly at a disadvantage in each of these categories. It would seem from the data that the war would be a swift and decisive victory for the North. The war was ultimately a Union victory but it was hard fought and lengthy. The South made up for its shortcomings through strong military leadership that relied on efficiency and strategy to prolong the war.	What advantages allowed the South to sustain war against the North?
The disparity between the North and the South had been many decades in the making. With the advent of the Industrial Revolution, the two regions developed differently. The North evolved into a more industrial economy with larger cities and a larger immigrant population to work in the factories for cheap wages. The North's wealth from industrial production was growing substantially by the mid-19th century. The South remained largely agricultural. Cotton was King, as the demand for Southern grown cotton was in high demand by Northern textile factories and other world markets. However, most farmers in the South were small-scale farmers and only a small percentage engaged in the large plantation operations that produced the greatest wealth.	What is meant by the phrase "Cotton is King"?
Northern wealth from industrial production accumulated in cash assets. Southern wealth was often tied up in land and slave investments. Therefore, when the Civil War began, the North was better able to fund the military operations based on more available cash, the sale of government bonds, and taxation. The South struggled to finance the war and tried desperately, but without success, to secure a foreign alliance to supplement the Confederate operation. The Union blockade of	Why did the South struggle to finance the war?
