Race, Economics, and the Politics of Educational Change John M. Amis, Paul M. Wright, 2024-01-12 The 2010 national midterm elections produced Republican majorities in Tennessee for the first time since Reconstruction In the wake of that election leaders of the Shelby County Schools SCS school district began legislative maneuvering to advance a long cherished goal granting their schools special school district status a move that would permanently sever the relationship between the SCS and the other school district in the county Memphis City Schools MCS Leaders of MCS realized this action would deprive it of funding from a significant part of the county's tax base. So they made a stunning move of their own: they renounced the MCS charter. Ironically, under Tennessee law, this action required SCS to take over the running of Memphis's schools. SCS would actually be forced to merge with MCS. Thus began the largest school district consolidation in the history of the United States.

Race, Economics, and the Politics of Educational Change progresses through nine chapters that examine the MCS/SCS merger from a variety of disciplinary perspectives: Historical, sociological, political, legal, institutional, urban planning, media studies, and educational analyses of the consolidation. John M. Amis and Paul M. Wright's volume is a valuable tool for researchers, students, policy makers, and educators alike. The investigations in this work reveal deeply entrenched inequalities that have thwarted education, particularly for poor minority students throughout the region's history. This text presents insight into factors that have shaped not just the school system in Shelby County but similar systems across the United States. A model for other urban areas that face similar challenges, this volume will serve as a significant resource for those seeking to understand the trajectory of large-scale educational transformations.

Independent Schools Yearbook 2012-2013 none, 2013-06-20. The highly respected book of reference sought after by Independent Schools in membership of the Independent Schools Council's Associations: HMC, GSA, The Society of Heads, IAPS, ISA, and COBIS.

Affirmative Action at a Crossroads: Fisher and Forward Edna Chun, Alvin Evans, 2015-05-20. The urgency of developing workable, race-neutral admissions strategies that maximize the benefits of student diversity has increased. This practical guide offers concrete recommendations and strategies for the creation of a campus ecosystem that maximizes the structural, curricular, and interactional benefits of diversity. Extensive empirical findings and a rich research literature opportunities for campuses to craft programs, processes, and intervention that maximize student learning outcomes related to diversity and alternative strategies for addressing disadvantage, including the use of socioeconomic status and state-based percent plans. This book provides a comprehensive overview of key issues and strategic approaches that will assist institutions of higher education in fostering demographic diversity and building inclusive and welcoming campus environments. This is the fourth issue of the 41st volume of the Jossey-Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report. Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences. Topics are identified by a national survey. Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports, with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication.
