Mathematical Mindsets Jo Boaler, 2015-10-12 Banish math anxiety and give students of all ages a clear roadmap to success Mathematical Mindsets provides practical strategies and activities to help teachers and parents show all children even those who are convinced that they are bad at math that they can enjoy and succeed in math Jo Boaler Stanford researcher professor of math education and expert on math learning has studied why students don't like math and often fail in math classes She's followed thousands of students through middle and high schools to study how they learn and to find the most effective ways to unleash the math potential in all students There is a clear gap between what research has shown to work in teaching math and what happens in schools and at home This book bridges that gap by turning research findings into practical activities and advice Boaler translates Carol Dweck's concept of mindset into math teaching and parenting strategies showing how students can go from self-doubt to strong self-confidence which is so important to math learning Boaler reveals the steps that must be taken by schools and parents to improve math education for all Mathematical Mindsets Explains how the brain processes mathematics learning Reveals how to turn mistakes and struggles into valuable learning experiences Provides examples of rich mathematical activities to replace rote learning Explains ways to give students a positive math mindset Gives examples of how assessment and grading policies need to change to support real understanding Scores of students hate and fear math so they end up leaving school without an understanding of basic mathematical concepts Their evasion and departure hinders math-related pathways and STEM career opportunities Research has shown very clear methods to change this phenomena but the information has been confined to research journals until now Mathematical Mindsets provides a proven practical roadmap to mathematics success for any student at any age A Mind For Numbers Barbara Oakley, PhD, 2014-07-31 The companion book to COURSERA's wildly popular massive open online course Learning How to Learn Whether you are a student struggling to fulfill a math or science requirement or you are embarking on a career change that requires a new skill set A Mind for Numbers offers the tools you need to get a better grasp of that intimidating material Engineering professor Barbara Oakley knows firsthand how it feels to struggle with math She flunked her way through high school math and science courses before enlisting in the army immediately after graduation When she saw how her lack of mathematical and technical savvy severely limited her options both to rise in the military and to explore other careers she returned to school with a newfound determination to retool her brain to master the very subjects that had given her so much trouble throughout her entire life In A Mind for Numbers Dr Oakley lets us in on the secrets to learning effectively secrets that even dedicated and successful students wish they'd known earlier Contrary to popular belief math requires creative as well as analytical thinking Most people think that there's only one way to do a problem when in actuality there are often a number of different solutions you just need the creativity to see them For example there are more than three hundred different known proofs of the Pythagorean Theorem In short studying a problem in a laser focused way until you reach a solution is not an effective way to learn Rather it involves taking the time to step away from a problem and allow the more relaxed and creative part of the brain to take over The learning strategies in this book apply not only to math and science but to any subject in which we struggle We all have what it takes to excel in areas that don't seem to come naturally to us at first and learning them does not have to be as painful as we might think
