Essays in Development Economics: Wealth and poverty Jagdish N. Bhagwati, 1985 Volume I Wealth and Poverty addresses domestic or internal development problems

Selected Essays by Frank H. Knight, Volume 1 Frank H. Knight, 1999 Frank H Knight 1885 1972 was a central figure many say the dominant influence in the development of the Chicago School of Economics at the University of Chicago in the 1930s and 1940s where he taught future Nobel laureates Milton Friedman James Buchanan George Stigler and many other notable scholars It was Knight s embedded skepticism about the reach of economic knowledge that set the stage for the laissez faire economics that matured at the University in the 1950s and 1960s But as important as Knight s technical economic contributions were he never strayed far from his broad philosophical interests and concern for the state of modern liberal democracy Ross B Emmett s selection of Knight s essays is the first to offer a comprehensive picture of the work of this notable social scientist over the span of his career Included are not only Knight s most influential writings but also a number of uncollected papers which have not previously been widely accessible These essays illustrate Knight s views on the central debates regarding economics social science ethics education and modern liberalism Volume 1 What is Truth in Economics contains fifteen of Knight s papers up through 1940 Volume 2 Laissez Faire Pro and Con includes fourteen of Knight s papers from 1940 through 1967 including Socialism The Nature of the Problem and The Sickness of Liberal Society These twenty nine essays together stand not only as a monument to one of economics most significant and original thinkers but will also serve as an invaluable resource for economists philosophers and political scientists interested in the development of the western liberal tradition

Foundations of Entrepreneurship and Economic Development David A Harper, 2003-03-13 This well written book is the first to deal with entrepreneurship in all its aspects It considers the economic psychological political legal and cultural dimensions of entrepreneurship from a market process perspective David A Harper has produced a volume that analyses why some people are quicker than others in discovering profit opportunities Importantly the book also covers the issue of how cultural value systems orient entrepreneurial vision and in contrast to conventional wisdom the book argues that individualist cultural values are not categorically superior to group oriented values in terms of their consequences for entrepreneurial discovery

Development and Distribution Andy Sumner, 2018-07-03 Since the Second World War surprisingly few developing countries have experienced a truly sustained episode of economic and social convergence towards the structural characteristics of the advanced nations East Asia has exceeded most regions in its achievement of convergence and much has been written on comparative industrialization and development in North

East Asia Less discussed is South East Asia and the surprising and inclusive transformation several of its countries has undergone Development and Distribution focuses on South East Asia and more specifically on Malaysia Indonesia and Thailand These three nations have all undergone a major transformation in a way never anticipated from being poor agrarian countries to middle income countries with developed industrial and manufacturing bases How did Malaysia Indonesia and Thailand achieve such a transformation and how did they achieve the transformation with a form of economic growth that was driven by structural transformation but that was inclusive Given that historically it has been thought that structural transformation tends to push up inequality whilst inclusive growth necessitates static or even falling inequality this last point is particularly salient to developing countries Understanding how the transformation was possible in a relatively small space of time the extent to which it was inclusive and the caveats and prospects for South East Asia is thus an area of enquiry significant to all developing countries as they seek economic and social transformation
