

Fischer Esterification Project

Introduction

Esters happens to be chemical compounds that play a very significant role in the lives of people worldwide. According to Encyclopedia.com, naturally esters of organic acids in fruits and flowers enables them to have their distinctive odors. Mostly, they are synthesized in the laboratory and used by cosmetic industries. Nonetheless, certain evaporative esters are used as solvents for paints, lacquers and varnishes. Scientifically, common fats and oils are combination of various esters like stearin, palmitin, and linolein, formed from the alcohol glycerol and fatty acids. (Encyclopedia.com)

On the other hand, Fischer Esterification is a method used in synthesizing esters from carboxylic acids and alcohols. As depicted in Fig 1, it occurs with the liberation of water. The reaction is acid catalyzed and an inorganic acid as sulfuric acid can be used as a catalyst. [Williamson, 2011]. According to Le Chatelier's Principle, the reaction is reversible since the position of equilibrium can be shifted to the right by either the addition or removal of excess reactants.

Fig 1: General representation of Fischer Esterification [McMurry, 2016]

The mechanism as shown in (Fig 2) happens by the initial protonation of carboxyl group by the acid, followed by nucleophilic attack by the alcohol, proton rearrangement, loss of water and loss of catalyzing proton. The reversible reaction yields hydrolysis of the ester, [Williamson, 2011]

Fig 2: General Mechanism for Fischer Esterification [Williamson, 2011]

Objectives

For this experiment, unknown samples of a carboxylic acid and an alcohol were given for the Fischer ester synthesis. Prior to the experiment, the molar masses of the reactants to be used were given and their refractive indices were taken so all the substances were known.

In order to cultivate students' ability to solve complex engineering problems, more comprehensive experiments should be designed. Besides the essential basic experiments in the first few chapters, most of the experiments designed in this book are comprehensive; hence the title. This book breaks the boundaries in the experimental courses of MSE. The experiments in this book are modularized into five parts, including preliminary exploration of materials science and engineering fundamentals of chemistry and crystallography, material properties, material preparation and treatment, and material applications. Besides the experiments, the appendices will describe the most relevant aspects of experimental safety, error, and data presentation in a general way. The contents and requirements of the experimental report are suggested. At the end of each chapter, a list of books, journal articles, and websites is provided for extended reading on the topics covered in the chapter. This book covers the main contents of experimental courses of MSE. The experiments cover the forefront of scientific research and the materials industry with appropriate modification. It intends to serve as a textbook for undergraduate students and aims to help teachers find a wide enough variety of experiments to construct in an experimental course.
