Democracy and Social Justice Education in the Information Age Angelo J. Letizia, 2016-12-19 This book presents educators with research based strategies to promote civic education in their classrooms Going beyond theory and measures of achievement these methods focus on information location evaluation and activation dialogue in the classroom understandings of discourse in popular culture and policymaking and understanding the role of STEM disciplines in democracy The author also furthers considerations of how the political process can provide meaning and new visions of justice in a globalized world and advance student leadership and academic writing in the information age As the world faces unprecedented levels of poverty wealth disparity environmental destruction and ethical questions regarding biotechnology the United States needs knowledgeable citizens to effectively deal with these issues Letizia provides teachers and teacher educators with the needed methods to foster these types of democratic considerations

Public Administration in an Information Age I. Th. M. Snellen, Wim B. H. J. van de Donk, 1998 This book is a joint effort of researchers who have been involved in research projects and programmes that have been trying to chart and reflect upon the implications of Information and Communication Technologies ICTs for Public Administration Tilburg Rotterdam Kassel Irvine Nottingham Glasgow Since the fifties computers had largely facilitated and the transformation of the minimal Night Watch state into the modern Welfare state through their contribution to their effectivity productivity and efficiency In most Handbooks of Public Administration computers are seen as neutral instruments and most of the time the role of computer technologies in the transformation of public administration is completely neglected This deafening silence is a great contrast with the way ICT s are actually changing public administration The faster the developments in a field of study are the more difficult it is to let the theories related to that field of study mature In such circumstances most statements will remain provisial and context dependent 25 years of research in Irvine California and Kassel Germany and more than 10 years of research in Tilburg Rotterdam The Netherlands and about seven years of research in Glasgow Nottingham the United Kingdom nonetheless enables the presentation of a modest image of public administration as it is entering the information age Researchers in each of these groups have nevertheless not stopped trying to phrase theories about the implications of informatization for public administration with a more or less larges scope that are robust in different contexts and over longer periods of time These results and theories covering a broad set of elements of the body of knowledge of public administration are presented in this volume As the authors try to demonstrate in this book informatization developments in public administration do not only challenge the existing body of knowledge of the public administration discipline but they are also opening up new perspectives and paradigms for the study of public administration

Conceptualizing Digital Responsibility for the Information Age Daniel Beverungen, Christiane Lehrer, Matthias Trier, 2025-05-12 This book is the first volume of proceedings from the 18th International Conference on
