Endless Holocausts David Michael Smith, 2023 The U S Empire has relied upon an almost unimaginable loss of life from its inception during the European colonial period to the present And yet in the face of a series of endless holocausts at home and abroad the doctrine of American exceptionalism has plagued the globe for over a century In Endless Holocausts author David Michael Smith demolishes the myth of exceptionalism by demonstrating that manifold forms of mass death far from being unfortunate exceptions to an otherwise benign historical record have been indispensable in the rise of the wealthiest and most powerful imperium in the history of the world At the same time Smith points to an extraordinary history of resistance by Indigenous peoples people of African descent people in other nations brutalized by U S imperialism workers and democratic minded people around the world determined to fight for common dignity and the sake of the greater good

Orentlicher contends that our founding fathers did not anticipate the extent to which their checks and balances would fail to contain executive power and partisan discord. As the stakes in presidential elections have grown ever higher since the New Deal battles to capture the White House have greatly exacerbated partisan differences, had the framers been able to predict the future, Orentlicher argues they would have been far less enamored with the idea of a single leader at the head of the executive branch and far more receptive to the alternative proposals for a plural executive that they rejected. Analyzing the histories of other countries with a plural executive branch and past examples of bipartisan cooperation within Congress, Orentlicher shows us why and how to implement a two person two party presidency. Ultimately, Two Presidents Are Better Than One demonstrates why we need constitutional reform to rebalance power between the executive and legislative branches and contain partisan conflict in Washington.

David Orentlicher is Samuel R. Rosen Professor at Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law. A scholar of constitutional law and a former state representative, David also has taught at Princeton University and the University of Chicago Law School. He earned degrees in law and medicine at Harvard and specializes as well in health care law and ethics.
