Confinement, Punishment and Prisons in Africa Marie Morelle, Frédéric Le Marcis, Julia Hornberger, 2021-05-10 This interdisciplinary volume presents a nuanced critique of the prison experience in diverse detention facilities across Africa The book stresses the contingent porous nature of African prisons across both time and space It draws on original long term ethnographic research undertaken in both Francophone and Anglophone settings which are grouped in four parts The first part examines how the prison has imprinted itself on wider political and social imaginaries and in turn how structures of imprisonment carry the imprint of political action of various times The second part stresses how particular forms of ordering emerge in African prisons It is held that while these often involve coercion and neglect they are better understood as the product of on going negotiations and the search for meaning and value on the part of a multitude of actors The third part is concerned with how prison life percolates beyond its physical perimeters into its urban and rural surroundings and vice versa It deals with the popular and contested nature of what prisons are about and what they do especially in regard to bringing about moral subjects The fourth and final part of the book examines how efforts of reforming and resisting the prison take shape at the intersection of globally circulating models of good governance and levels of self organisation by prisoners The book will be an essential reference for students academics and policy makers in Law Criminology Sociology and Politics

The Paradox of Planetary Human Entanglements Innocent Moyo, Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2022-12-30 The Paradox of Planetary Human Entanglements provides a nuanced understanding of the complexity of planetary human entanglements in this age of increased borderisation and territorialisation racism and xenophobia and inclusion and exclusion One of the greatest paradoxes of the 21st century is that of increased planetary human entanglements enabled by globalisation on the one hand and by the rising tide of exclusionary right wing politics of racism xenophobia and the building of walled states on the other The characteristic feature of this paradox is the unrestrained move towards the detention and incarceration of those who attempt to migrate This brings to the fore the issue of borders in terms of their materiality and symbolism and how this mediates belonging citizenship and the ethics or lack thereof and politics of living together This book shows that at the core of border and migration restrictions is the desire to exclude certain categories of people which aptly demonstrates that borders in their materiality are not for everyone but for those who are considered undesirable migrants The authors examine questions of borders nationalism migration immigration and belonging setting the basis of a campaign for planetary humanism grounded on human dignity which transcends ethnicity and nationality This book will be a useful resource for students scholars and researchers of African Studies Border Studies Migration Studies Development Studies International Studies Black Studies International Relations and Political Science
