Glimpses Of A Global Life

Elizabeth A. Povinelli

Glimpses Of A Global Life:

Glimpses of a Global Life Shridath Ramphal, 2014-11-22 Shridath Sonny Ramphal looks back at the fifteen years he spent as the Secretary General of the Commonwealth. He shares glimpses of conflicts, discussions and characters such as Uganda's tyrant Idi Amin and the enlightened spirits of others like Germany's Willy Brandt and Nelson Mandela, all of whom Ramphal encountered in his global life.

The Commonwealth, South Africa and Apartheid Stuart Mole, 2023-05-31 This book explores the role of the modern Commonwealth in the international campaign against apartheid in South Africa. Spanning the period of South Africa's apartheid state from its foundation in 1948 until its ending in April 1994, the author demonstrates that after the 1960 Sharpeville massacre and South Africa's subsequent exclusion from the Commonwealth, the organisation was able to become both pathfinder and interlocutor on the road to South Africa's freedom. As well as South Africa's ejection from the Commonwealth, apartheid's increasing isolation was sustained by the Commonwealth's pioneering work in boycotting apartheid sport as well as campaigning to stop arms sales. It also played an important role in internationalising economic and financial sanctions, credited by some as the final nail in apartheid's coffin, and was able to make an important and distinctive contribution to the transition to democracy. At the same time, critical debates within the Commonwealth about racial and political equality transformed the association from a docile post-imperial organisation led by the UK and in its own interests to a modern multiracial North-South forum for reconciling global difference and overcoming the legacies of colonialism. This comprehensive and authoritative account of the Commonwealth's engagement with apartheid South Africa is intended for all those who study and research the modern Commonwealth, its structure and influence, and for those with a general interest in contemporary post-war history.

The Brandt Commission and the Multinationals Bo Stråth, 2023-02-11 Set against the backdrop of dramatic world order transformations across the 1970s and 1980s, this book examines the competing planetary perspectives of the Brandt Commission and the multinationals, arguing that the missed opportunities of these decades created a path for contemporary political and economic crises. At the Global South's request for a New International Economic Order, the Brandt Commission, chaired by Willy Brandt, was appointed in 1977. The commission, with a goal to formulate arguments on how to close the gap between the North and South, developed a planetary perspective grounded in economic redistribution, ecological considerations and disarmament. The multinationals, at that time a new kind of business corporation, repressed Brandt's vision by seeking freedom from political monitoring. This book discusses the ways that global corporations created facts that changed the world and the preconditions of politics. It moves beyond existing research that considers the competition merely a theoretical clash between Keynesianism and neoliberalism. Featuring a thorough analysis of the decades' trends and a new interview with Shridath Ramphal, the Commission's unofficial vice chair, this is a timely volume for students and researchers of international relations, political science and contemporary history.

The Cultural Cold War and the Global South Kerry Bystrom, Monica Popescu, Katherine Zien, 2021-07-27 This volume investigates the cultural sites where the global Cold War played out. It brings to view unpredictable encounters that arose as writers, artists, filmmakers and intellectuals from or aligned with the Third World navigated the ideological and material constraints set by superpowers and emerging regional powers. Often these encounters generated communitas and solidarity while at times they fed old and new conflicts. Pushing forward recent scholarship that tracks the Cold War in the Global South and draws on postcolonial approaches, our contributors use archival, secondary and ethnographic sources to trace the afterlives and memories of key figures and to explore meetings that performed cultural diplomacy. Our focus on sites of encounter or exchange underscores the situated interpersonal and embodied dimensions through which much of the cultural Cold War was experienced. While the global conflict divided citizens along ideological fault lines, it also linked people through circulating media, novels, film, posters, journals and theatre and multinational conferences that brought artists, intellectuals and political activists together. Such contacts introduced new axes of solidarity and hierarchies of exclusion. Examining these connections and disjunctures, this new and necessary mapping of the cultural Cold War highlights under-addressed locations in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Multidimensional Threats and Regional Responses to Caribbean Security Wendy C. Grenade, 2024-12-20. Multidimensional Threats and Regional Responses to Caribbean Security assesses the prevalence and intensity of intersecting security threats such as transnational organized crime, pandemics and climate change on the state of the Caribbean Community (CARICOM). The interplay of these various threats can adversely affect small island developing states (SIDS). This book aims to expose the fault lines in Western-centric international relations which neglects non-military issues, non-state actors and other security issues affecting SIDS. This volume also explores the efficacy of security regionalism for SIDS where multiple actors cooperate across different levels and pool sovereignty resources and capabilities within legitimate institutional structures in order to prepare for, prevent and collectively respond to severe security threats. This book argues for a more inclusive global IR that considers the realities of the developing world and a reimagining of security regionalism among CARICOM SIDS.

Change in Global Environmental Politics Michael W. Manulak, 2022-05-12. In a period of planetary crisis, this book shows how large-scale change occurs in global environmental politics.

On the Edge of the Global Niko Besnier, 2011-03-02. This book explores the malaise present in post-colonial Tonga, analyzing the way in which segments of this small-scale society hold on to different understandings of what modernity is, how it should be made relevant to local contexts and how it should mesh with practices and symbols of tradition.

Developing Countries Yue Wang,2013-11-12 Human population genetic research HPGR seeks to identify the diversity and variation of the human genome and how human group and individual genetic diversity has developed This book asks whether developing countries are well prepared for the ethical and legal conduct of human population genetic research with specific regard to vulnerable target group protection The book highlights particular issues raised by genetic research on populations as a whole such as the potential harm specific groups may suffer in genetic research and the capacity for current frameworks of Western developed countries to provide adequate protections for these target populations Using The People s Republic of China as a key example Yue Wang argues that since the target groups of HPGR are almost always from isolated and rural areas of developing countries the ethical and legal frameworks for human subject protection need to be reconsidered in order to eliminate or at least reduce the vulnerability of those groups While most discussion in this field focuses on the impact of genetic research on individuals this book breaks new ground in exploring how the interests of target groups are also seriously implicated in genetic work In evaluating current regulations concerning prevention of harm to vulnerable groups the book also puts forward an alternative model for group protection in the context of human population genetic research in developing countries The book will be of great interest to students and academics of medical law ethics and the implications of genetic research Music, Sound, and Documentary Film in the Global South Christopher L.

Ballengee,2022-11-01 Music Sound and Documentary Film in the Global South edited by Christopher L Ballengee represents an important step toward thinking about the production and analysis of the soundscapes of documentary film all while exploring a range of social cultural technological and theoretical questions relevant to current trends in Global South studies

Written by a diverse set of authors including filmmakers academics and cultural critics the ten essays in this book provide fresh evaluations of the place of music and sound in documentary films outside the European American milieu On the whole the authors illuminate how the invention of documentary film was at first a product of the colonialist project Yet over time access to filmmaking technologies led to the creation of documentary films relevant for local communities and national identities In this sense documentary film in the Global South might be broadly defined as a mode of personally or politically mediated storytelling that by one route or another has become a useful and recognizable means of memorializing traumatic histories and critiquing everyday lived experience As the essays in this volume attest close readings of documentary soundscapes provide fresh perspectives on ways of hearing and ways of being heard in the Global South Routledge

Povinelli, 2016-09-15 In Geontologies Elizabeth A. Povinelli continues her project of mapping the current conditions of late liberalism by offering a bold retheorization of power Finding Foucauldian biopolitics unable to adequately reveal contemporary mechanisms of power and governance Povinelli describes a mode of power she calls geontopower which operates through the regulation of the distinction between Life and Nonlife and the figures of the Desert the Animist and the Virus Geontologies examines this formation of power from the perspective of Indigenous Australian maneuvers against the settler state And it probes how our contemporary critical languages anthropogenic climate change plasticity new materialism antinormativity often unwittingly transform their struggles against geontopower into a deeper entwinement within it A woman who became a river a snakelike entity who spawns the fog plesiosaurus fossils and vast networks of rock weirs in asking how these different forms of existence refuse incorporation into
