Neolithic Rev.	The shift from hunting & gathering to agriculture led to permanent settlements, the establishment of social classes, and the eventual rise of civilizations.	10,000 BCE	Humans cultivated crops and domesticate certain animals. Permanent settlements were established. Farmers created a calendar to keep track of planting and harvesting. They developed metal tools, such as plows, and metal weapons.	Some of these early groups settled in the fertile valleys of the Nile, Tigris-Euphrates, Yellow, and Indus Rivers. This resulted in the rise of the great civilizations in Egypt, Mesopotamia, China, and India.
Commercial Rev.	As a result of the Crusades, trade increased, which also increased cultural diffusion between the Islamic world and Europe. As this trade flourished and grew, new practices in business were developed.	1300 CE	Guilds, Capitalism, Partnerships & Joint Stock Companies, Banks, Bills of Exchange, Insurance	The increased interaction between Europe and the Middle East caused the spread of the Bubonic Plague, the decline of feudalism, and a revival of arts, literature, and science known as the Renaissance.
Protestant Ref.	The Reformation was a protest against perceived wrong doings by the Catholic Church. The followers of Luther and Calvin became known as Protestants, because of their "protesting."	1517 CE	Luther: Christians could only reach salvation through faith in god. He did not believe that the Pope or other priests had any special powers. Calvin: he believed that faith in god provided the path to salvation and predestination (the belief that certain people were chosen by god for salvation)	Spread quickly because of unrest in the peasant population and the printing press. Europe is divided religiously, and strong monarchs fill the leadership void left as a result of a weakened Catholic Church.
Enlightenment	The Enlightenment changed the way people lived as political and social scholars began to question the workings of society and government, while rejecting traditional ideas. The Enlightenment attempted to explain the purpose of government, and describe the best form of it.	1680-1790 CE	Enlightened Thinkers: Descartes, Hobbes, Locke, Montesquieu, Voltaire, Rousseau	Enlightenment ideas helped to stimulate people's sense of individualism, and the basic belief in equal rights.
Scientific Rev.	The same spirit of inquiry that fueled the Renaissance, led scientists to question traditional beliefs about the workings of the universe. The most prominent scientists of this time include Copernicus, Galileo, and Isaac Newton.	1540s-1750s CE	The basis for the Scientific Revolution was the Scientific Method. This method of research is the basis for modern science. Copernicus proposed a heliocentric model of the solar system. Galileo proved him correct with his "homemade" telescope. He was forced to recant his ideas or face execution. Isaac Newton used mathematics to describe gravity	The Scientific Revolution had far reaching effects. Besides changing the way people thought about the universe, the use of the Scientific Method resulted in discoveries in medicine, physics, and biology.
Industrial Rev.	A century later, many people lived in cities and most of their needs were produced by complex machines using steam power.	1850 CE	Caused by: Money for railroads, factories, and mines; The steam engine; The British had the right natural resources for industrialization	Mass Production; Big Business; Laissez-Faire Economics; Urbanization; Loss of Quality Working Conditions; New Roles for the middle class; Emergence of the working class; Communism; Imperialism
