Katsinas, Nathaniel J. Bray, Martha J. Kanter, 2022-08-23 Educating the Top 100 Percent assesses the decline of higher education funding and offers ambitious policy recommendations to restore the possibility of accessible affordable education for all Stephen G Katsinas Nathaniel J Bray and Martha J Kanter probe the complex interplay of federal state and local policies and illustrate how government actions have over time contributed to the long term slide of US educational attainment Declining federal and state funding of public higher education has forced institutions to revise their financial models passing costs directly through to students to the detriment of prospective students and the nation Experts in education policy the authors point out how the unintended consequences of today s funding model deny an ever increasing portion of the population important educational and professional opportunities By providing context for how we arrived at this financial conundrum and analyzing robust quantitative data from national sources Katsinas and his colleagues offer pragmatic sustainable and stable policy options for educating all Americans The authors provide innovative ideas key lessons learned and actionable proposals to fund public higher education Their top down federal and bottom up local and state policy solutions aim to rectify plummeting high school to college continuation and college graduation rates As a result they present a vision of a brighter economic cultural and civic future for educating all Americans Educating the Top 100 Percent demonstrates how stable sustainable funding policies can scaffold a better public higher education system for all

The Child in Question Julie C. Garlen,Lisa Farley,2021-05-13 What is a child The concept of childhood is so familiar that we tend to assume its universality However the meaning of childhood is always being negotiated not only by the imaginations of adults but also by nations markets history and children themselves Yet as much as the question is considered by the social world the contributions in this book remind readers that children are also active embodied and inquiring agents engaged in figuring a relationship with that the world they inherit This book s unifying theme The child in question emerges from an assertion that childhood has boundaries far more elastic than can be held by the familiar notion of the innocent child developing toward a heteronormative future The title pays homage to the work of sociologist Diana Gittins who over twenty years ago asked how the shifting meanings of children and childhood impact the lives of children The contributions of this book examine contemporary educational policy and practice curriculum material literary and visual representations and teacher narratives to further probe how and why it matters that childhood as a concept and experience remains as multiple and elusive as ever The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Curriculum Inquiry
