Substance Use Disorders in Adult Critically Ill Patients Kunal Karamchandani,Jon E. Grant,2024-10-24 The steady increase in individuals with substance use disorder requiring admission to the intensive care unit ICU has been an area of concern leading to an increase in ICU utilization and costs related to both licit and illicit abuse of these drugs Most recently the COVID 19 pandemic has contributed to an increase in substance use and overdoses with preliminary data suggesting an almost 30% increase in overdose deaths over the course of the pandemic This increase in prevalence underscores the importance for the critical care practitioners to be knowledgeable about how substance use disorders impact the critically ill

patient and understanding the epidemiology of substance use in critically ill patients Management of patients with substance use disorders is complicated by the associated intoxication and withdrawal syndromes as well as by the physiologic changes that occur with chronic use that can cause predispose patients to and worsen the severity of many conditions This makes it vital that critical care providers are adept at identifying and treating common intoxication and withdrawal syndromes as well as proficient at treatment considerations owing to chronic use of such addictive substances This text provides a comprehensive state of the art review of the critical care implications of some of the commonly used addiction drugs and serves as a very useful resource for everyone involved in the care of critically ill patients impacted by substance use disorder It provides a concise yet comprehensive summary of the status of the field that helps guide patient management and stimulate investigative efforts All chapters are written by experts in their fields and include the most up to date scientific and clinical information
