is to illuminate scholarship on Black women and girls throughout the educational pipeline. The contributors all Black women educators, scholars, and advocates name the challenges Black women and girls face while pursuing their education as well as offer implications and recommendations for practitioners, policymakers, teachers, and administrators to consider in ensuring the success of Black women and girls. This book is divided into four sections, each identifying the barriers Black girls and women encounter at the stages of their education and offering strategies to promote their success and agency within and beyond educational contexts. In Part One, the contributors explore the importance of mattering for Black girls in terms of redefining success and joy, centering Black girl literacy pedagogies that encourage them to thrive, examining how to make STEM more accessible to them, and recounting how Black girls' emotions and emotional literacy can either disempower them or promote their sense of agency to navigate educational contexts. Part Two uncovers the violence directed toward and the criminalization of Black women and girls and how they are situated in educational and justice systems that collude to fail them. The contributors address incarceration and the process of rehabilitation and reentry, the outcomes of disciplinary action in schools on women who pursue college, and describe how the erasure and disregard of Black women and girls leaves them absent from the educational policies that deeply affect their lives and wellbeing. Part Three focuses on how Black women are left to navigate without resources that could make their collegiate pathways smoother, covers how hair politics impact their acceptance in college leadership roles, particularly at HBCUs, illuminates the importance of social, emotional, and mental health for Black undergraduate women, and the lack of adequate resources, and explores how women with disabilities navigate higher education. The final part of this book describes transformative approaches to supporting the educational needs of Black women and girls, including the use of a politicized ethic of care, intergenerational love and dialogue, and constructing communities, including digital environments, to ensure they thrive through their education and beyond.
