Dynamic Econometrics Francis J. Bismans, Olivier Damette, 2025-02-15 This textbook for advanced econometrics students introduces key concepts of dynamic non stationary modelling It discusses all the classic topics in time series analysis and linear models containing multiple equations as well as covering panel data models and non linear models of qualitative variables The book offers a general introduction to dynamic econometrics and covers topics including non stationary stochastic processes unit root tests Monte Carlo simulations heteroskedasticity autocorrelation cointegration and error correction mechanism models specification and vector autoregressions Going beyond advanced dynamic analysis the book also meticulously analyses the classical linear regression model CLRM and introduces students to estimation and testing methods for the more advanced auto regressive distributed lag ARDL model The book incorporates worked examples algebraic explanations and learning exercises throughout It will be a valuable resource for graduate and postgraduate students in econometrics and quantitative finance as well as academic researchers in this area Interest Rates, Exchange Rates and World Monetary Policy John E.

Floyd, 2009-12-04 A careful basic theoretical and econometric analysis of the factors determining the real exchange rates of Canada the U K Japan France and Germany with respect to the United States is conducted The resulting conclusion is that real exchange rates are almost entirely determined by real factors relating to growth and technology such as oil and commodity prices international allocations of world investment across countries and underlying terms of trade changes Unanticipated money supply shocks calculated in five alternative ways have virtually no effects A Blanchard Quah VAR analysis also indicates that the effects of real shocks predominate over monetary shocks by a wide margin The implications of these facts for the conduct of monetary policy in countries outside the U S are then explored leading to the conclusion that all countries to avoid exchange rate overshooting have tended to automatically follow the same monetary policy as the United States The history of world monetary policy is reviewed along with the determination of real exchange rates within the Euro Area

Teaching Innovations in Economics María del Carmen Valls Martínez, José-María Montero, 2024-10-31 This book highlights the latest technological innovations in economics education Economics as a discipline not only studies the relationship between ends and scarce means which can be used alternatively but also serves as a social science that uses historical data to predict future events a task complicated by the influence of human behavior In economics a solid theoretical foundation alone is insufficient practical application requires a deep understanding of statistics With the vast amount of information available today data processing is now performed using specialized software Consequently teaching economics demands a wide range of complex skills that have significantly evolved in recent years driven by the growing interest in educational innovation among professors and scientists further accelerated by advancements in new technologies Moreover economics education is increasingly aligned with the global concern for sustainability as emphasized in the United Nations Agenda 2030 Professors are now integrating sustainability into syllabi and teaching methodologies This book covers key topics such as Technological and innovative advancements in economics education New teaching learning theories and models in economics education The impact of digital transformation on economics education The role of artificial intelligence in economics education Addressing special educational needs in economics education Evaluation of the teaching learning process in economics Assessment of student learning in economics Development of materials and tools for economics education Final projects Undergraduate and Master s in economics Authored by leading professors and researchers in the
