How to write a Book Review

Mukhtiar Baig, Shaukat Ali Jawaaid

Books are considered “tools for communication between two minds.” A well written and comprehensive review can let you know whether that book worked as a communication tool between the author and reader or not.¹ The scholarly book review is a kind of academic writing that helps to explain and critically appraise the subject matter, value, sense, and importance of a book.^{2,3} Usually, book reviewing is an unpaid job, and it is considered as a service to the profession.⁴ Therefore, it is necessary that reviewer should be willing to contribute in the field and should have the knowledge of the subject.

A review is the personal reflection of the reviewer’s opinion about the book, in which he/she communicates to the readers; such as was the book good and worth reading? Was it thought-provoking and informative? To whom (audience) it is recommended?⁴ There is some difference between reviewing fiction and non-fiction books. In this article, our focus is reviewing a non-fiction book.

There is no hard and fast rule regarding the length of the review. However, a review comprising of 500-1000 words is good enough. It provides sufficient space to a reviewer for presenting his/her ideas or comments with considerable supportive examples and arguments.¹ Mostly, journals have a word limit for writing a book review. However, the worth of a review rarely have connection with its length.⁵

There are two approaches to book reviewing such as descriptive and critical.^{4,6}
