Information Science and Technology, Fourth Edition Khosrow-Pour, D.B.A., Mehdi, 2017-06-20 In recent years our world has experienced a profound shift and progression in available computing and knowledge sharing innovations. These emerging advancements have developed at a rapid pace disseminating into and affecting numerous aspects of contemporary society. This has created a pivotal need for an innovative compendium encompassing the latest trends, concepts, and issues surrounding this relevant discipline area. During the past 15 years, the Encyclopedia of Information Science and Technology has become recognized as one of the landmark sources of the latest knowledge and discoveries in this discipline. The Encyclopedia of Information Science and Technology Fourth Edition is a 10 volume set which includes 705 original and previously unpublished research articles covering a full range of perspectives, applications, and techniques contributed by thousands of experts and researchers from around the globe. This authoritative encyclopedia is an all-encompassing well-established reference source that is ideally designed to disseminate the most forward thinking and diverse research findings. With critical perspectives on the impact of information science, management, and new technologies in modern settings including but not limited to computer science, education, healthcare, government, engineering, business, and natural and physical sciences, it is a pivotal and relevant source of knowledge that will benefit every professional within the field of information science and technology and is an invaluable addition to every academic and corporate library. Predictability, Stability, and Chaos in N-Body Dynamical Systems Archie E. Roy, 2012-12-06 The reader will find in this volume the Proceedings of the NATO Advanced Study Institute held in Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, between August 6 and August 17, 1990, under the title Predictability, Stability, and Chaos in N-Body Dynamical Systems. The Institute was the latest in a series held at three yearly intervals from 1972 to 1987 in dynamical astronomy, theoretical mechanics, and celestial mechanics. These previous institutes held in high esteem by the international community of research workers have resulted in a series of well-received Proceedings. The 1990 Institute attracted 74 participants from 16 countries, six outside the NATO group. Fifteen series of lectures were given by invited speakers; additionally, some 40 valuable presentations were made by the younger participants, most of which are included in these Proceedings. The last twenty years, in particular, have been a time of increasingly rapid progress in tackling long-standing and also newly arising problems in dynamics of N-body systems: point mass and non-point mass, a rate of progress achieved because of correspondingly rapid developments of new computer hardware and software together with the advent of new analytical techniques. It was a time of exciting progress culminating in the ability to carry out research programmes into the evolution of the outer Solar System over periods of more than 10 years and to study star cluster and galactic models in unprecedented detail.
