English Out Question Jsc 2014:

Civil Jurisdiction and Judgments Adrian Briggs, 2015-06-12 Now in a fully updated sixth edition this book is an established treatise in the field of civil jurisdiction and judgments. It states, analyses, illuminates and evaluates the law of civil jurisdiction and the enforcement of foreign judgments in English law with this new edition taking into account the implications of the new Brussels I Regulation recast Regulation EU 1215/2012 as well as the great number of developments in the case law which have taken place since 2009. This book looks in detail at the jurisdictional rules put in place by the recast Brussels I Regulation, the common law rules of jurisdiction, the principles according to which that jurisdiction will or will not be exercised, the extent to which proceedings before a foreign court may be assisted or impeded, obtaining interim and interlocutory relief, recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments. This text is an authoritative and comprehensive reference for all legal professionals working in commercial law across jurisdictions. Flipping Academic English Language Learning Erik Voss, Ilka Kostka, 2019-06-17 This book draws on theory, research and practice-oriented literature to offer an introduction to flipped learning and offer busy instructors advice on how to flip their academic English language courses. The chapters balance theoretical foundations, practical applications and useful resources for developing materials. The first half of this book defines flipped learning and academic English describes how it supports English language learning and explains the role of technology as well as issues with accountability and feedback. The second half of the book then makes connections between the theoretical issues presented in the first three chapters and the practical applications in the following chapters which provide lesson descriptions and assessment ideas for language learning contexts with or without access to technology. The book concludes with a list of tools and technologies for developing materials and activities as well as additional resources for professional development and further exploration of flipped English language learning.

Proportionality and Facts in Constitutional Adjudication Anne Carter, 2022-01-27 This book considers the relationship between proportionality and facts in constitutional adjudication. Analysing where facts arise within each of the three stages of the structured proportionality test: suitability, necessity and balancing, it considers the nature of these facts vis-à-vis the facts that arise in the course of ordinary litigation. The book's central focus is on how proportionality has been applied by courts in practice and it draws on the comparative experience of four jurisdictions across a range of legal systems. The central case study of the book is Australia where the embryonic and contested nature of proportionality means it provides an illuminating study of how facts can inform the framing of constitutional tests. The rich proportionality jurisprudence from Germany, Canada and South Africa is used to contextualise the approach of the High Court of Australia and to identify future directions for proportionality in Australia at a time when the doctrine is in its formative stages. The book has three broad aims. First, it considers the role of facts within proportionality reasoning. Second, it offers procedural insights into fact-finding in constitutional litigation. Third, the book's analysis of the dynamic Australian case law on proportionality means it also serves to clarify the nature and status of proportionality in Australia at a critical moment Since the 2015 decision of McCloy v New South Wales where four justices supported the introduction of a structured three part test of proportionality the Court has continued to disagree about the utility of such a test These developments mean that this book with its doctrinal and comparative approach is particularly timely

The Conflict of Laws Adrian Briggs, 2019-10-24 This invaluable introduction to the study of the conflict of laws provides a survey and analysis of the rules of private international law as they apply in England Written to take account of the various possible outcomes of the Brexit process it goes as far as is possible to make sense of the effect it will have on English private international law The volume covers general principles jurisdiction and the effect of foreign judgments the law applicable to contractual and non contractual obligations the private international law of property of adults the increasingly complex law of children is described in bare outline and of corporations It does so in a manner which explains and illuminates the principles which underpin the subject in a clear and coherent fashion as the wealth of literature case law and legislation can often obscure the architecture of the subject and unnecessarily complicate its study This new edition organizes the existing material in light of European legislation on private international law reflecting the way in which an accurate representation of the topic requires it to be interpreted as European law with a common law periphery instead of common law with European legislative influences As at the time of writing and possibly for some time to come the consequences of Brexit are a mystery but the attempt is made to describe the various possible shapes which the subject will assume in the future The book adopts a pragmatic approach and avoids the more abstract theory as the theory of the conflict of laws is actually to be found in and by applying the legislation and jurisprudence to the cases and issues which arise in private international litigation and in giving legal advice

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17 Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice whether as judges or litigants Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers

Arbitration Clauses in Maritime Contracts Eleni Magklasi, 2024-06-28 Arbitration clauses are sacrosanct in maritime contracts Standard forms of charterparties and bills of lading reflect a desire to trade over the trusted dispute resolution choice of arbitration However when incorporating arbitration clauses disputes and interpretational complexities continue to arise evidencing that the law is not settled yet This book introduces a holistic evaluation of the commercial reasons and the legal principles that permeate the incorporation of arbitration clauses in modern maritime contracts contrasting arbitration with exclusive jurisdiction clauses where appropriate The book presents a modern specialised legal study of incorporation of arbitration clauses into maritime contracts considering recent developments and long established principles of incorporation Offering a thorough research into English European and Chinese law with the objective to assess how the incorporation of arbitration principles crystallises through the years the book will be of interest to researchers legal practitioners and commercial parties

Injunctive Relief and International Arbitration Hakeem Seriki, 2014-07-25 This book explores from an English law and Institutional perspective the various types of injunctive relief that are available to a party before and during arbitral proceedings In particular this book examines the basis of the power of English Courts to grant such injunctions and explains when such injunctions will be granted It considers any limitations attached to such injunctions and the relationship between section 44 of the Arbitration Act 1996 and section 37 of the Senior Courts Act 1981 It also provides an in depth analysis of case law and the emerging trends in this area of arbitration as well as the powers of arbitrators under the ICC and LCIA Rules to grant such relief and other remedies that might be available to a party seeking to uphold an arbitration agreement This book will be a vital reference tool for practitioners arbitrators and postgraduate students

Tort Law and Human Rights Jane Wright, 2017-02-23 This is a completely revised and expanded second edition building on the first edition with two principal aims to elucidate the role that domestic tort principles play in securing to citizens the human rights standards laid down in the European Convention on Human Rights including the new remedy under the Human Rights Act 1998 and to evaluate tort principles for compliance with those standards The first edition was written when the Human Rights Act 1998 was newly enacted and many questions existed as to its potential impact on tort law Answers to many of the questions which were raised at that time are only now emerging Therefore the text has been updated to reflect these developments Whether it is appropriate to attribute particular goals and functions to tort law is highly contested and the analysis begins by locating the discussion within these contemporary debates The author goes on to examine the extent to which the action against public authorities under section 7 of the Act has impacted on the development of common law principles as well as the issue of horizontal effect of the Act between non state actors New chapters include A Human Rights Based Approach to Tort Law and Public Authority Liability and Privacy From Misuse of Private Information to Autonomy

The Cambridge Companion to Public Law Mark Elliott, David Feldman, 2015-08-20 The Cambridge Companion to Public Law examines key themes debates and issues in contemporary public law The book identifies and draws out five key themes the notions of government and the state the place of the state and public law in the world at large relationships between institutions and officials within the state the legitimacy of institutions and the identity and value of public law in relation to politics The book also presents a contemporary examination taking account of the substantial changes witnessed in this area in recent decades and of the resulting need to reassess orthodox accounts of the subject Written by leading authorities drawn from across the common law world their approach is rigorous engaging and highly accessible This Companion acts as both a thoughtful introduction and a collection that consciously moves the discipline forward

Construction Law Julian Bailey, 2016-07-22 Now in its second edition Construction Law is the standard work of reference for busy construction law practitioners and it will support lawyers in their contentious and non contentious practices worldwide Published in three volumes it is the most comprehensive text on this subject and provides a unique and invaluable comparative multi jurisdictional approach This book has been described by Lord Justice Jackson as a tour de force and by His Honour Humphrey Lloyd QC as seminal and definitive This new edition builds on that strong foundation and has been fully updated to include extensive references to very latest case law as well as changes to statutes and regulations The laws of Hong Kong and Singapore are also now covered in detail in addition to those of England and Australia Practitioners as well as interested academics and post graduate students will all find this book to be an invaluable guide to the many facets of construction law The Evolution and Future of International Arbitration Stavros Brekoulakis, Julian D.M. Lew, 2016-06-24 The School of International Arbitration of the Centre for Commercial Law Studies at Queen Mary University of London celebrated its 30th anniversary in April 2015 with a major conference featuring presentations by 35 international arbitration practitioners and scholars from many countries representing a variety of legal systems This volume has emerged from that conference What is striking is not only the range and diversity of the topics examined but also the emergence of new subjects for examination demonstrating that arbitration law and practice do not stand still but are constantly evolving The issues and topics covered include the following Evolution of case law and practice in international arbitration The concept and autonomy of arbitral award Parties in international arbitration Parallel proceedings in international arbitration Court review of arbitration awards Geographic expansion of international arbitration Counsel regulation and conflicts disclosures The use of technology in international arbitration Teaching and research in international arbitration This superbly organised and edited volume like earlier conference volumes from the School of International Arbitration is sure to be welcomed and acclaimed and like them will prove of lasting value Intermediation and Beyond Louise Gullifer, Jennifer Payne, 2019-01-24 The global shift from the direct holding of securities by investors to the current intermediated holding system raises many important legal issues These include the impact of the intermediated holding system on the rights of investors and the enforcement of those rights against intermediaries and issuers The cross border nature of many holding patterns adds another layer of complexity to these issues and reduces legal certainty Against this intermediation offers benefits for many investors including the ability to hold a cross border portfolio with one intermediary a reduction in costs and the facilitation of the use of securities in the collateral repo and securities lending markets This book covers a number of legal topics relating to intermediated securities including the history of intermediation the benefits and problems in the current intermediated holding system and how future legal and technological developments could help to resolve these problems while retaining the benefits of intermediation It also examines the possible impact of FinTech on this area in particular the potential for Blockchain to be used in the issuing holding and settlement of securities the extent to which this will solve some of the difficulties that currently exist and whether the use of Blockchain will create new difficulties that will need to be overcome This book which originated in a series of workshops organised by the Commercial Law Centre at Harris Manchester College Oxford will appeal to those interested in financial and corporate law including academics practitioners policy makers and students Making One's Way in the World Martin Bell, 2020-02-28 The book draws on the evidence of landscape archaeology palaeoenvironmental studies ethnohistory and animal tracking to address the neglected topic of how we identify and interpret past patterns of movement in the landscape It challenges the pessimism of previous generations which regarded prehistoric routes such as hollow ways as generally undatable The premise is that archaeologists tend to focus on sites while neglecting the patterns of habitual movement that made them part of living landscapes Evidence of past movement is considered in a multi scalar way from the individual footprint to the long distance path including the traces created in vegetation by animal and human movement It is argued that routes may be perpetuated over long timescales creating landscape structures which influence the activities of subsequent generations In other instances radical changes of axes of communication and landscape structures provide evidence of upheaval and social change Palaeoenvironmental and ethnohistorical evidence from the American North West coast sets the scene with evidence for the effects of burning animal movement faeces deposition and transplantation which can create readable routes along which are favoured resources Evidence from European hunter gatherer sites hints at similar practices of niche construction on a range of spatial scales On a local scale footprints help to establish axes of movement the locations of lost settlements and activity areas Wood trackways likewise provide evidence of favoured patterns of movement and past settlement location Among early farming communities alignments of burial mounds enclosure entrances and other monuments indicate axes of communication From the middle Bronze Age in Europe there is more clearly defined evidence of trackways flanked by ditches and fields Landscape scale survey and excavation enables the dating of trackways using spatial relationships with dated features and many examples indicate long term continuity of routeways Where fields flank routeways a range of methods including scientific approaches provide dates Prehistorians have often assumed that Ridgeways provided the main axes of early movement but there is little evidence for their early origins and rather better evidence for early routes crossing topography and providing connections between different environmental zones The book concludes with a case study of the Weald of South East England which demonstrates that some axes of cross topographic movement used as droveways and generally considered as early medieval can be shown to be of prehistoric origin One reason that dryland routes have proved difficult to recognise is that insufficient attention has been paid to the parts played by riverine and maritime longer distance communication It is argued that understanding the origins of the paths we use today contributes to appreciation of the distinctive qualities of landscapes Appreciation will help to bring about effective strategies for conservation of mutual benefit to people and wildlife by maintaining and enhancing corridors of connectivity between different landscape zones including fragmented nature reserves and valued places In these ways an understanding of past routeways can contribute to sustainable landscapes communities and quality of life
