Ggeography P2012 November:

Global Value Chains and Global Production Networks Jeffrey Neilson,Bill Pritchard,Henry Yeung Wai-Chung,2017-10-02 The global economic system is experiencing a profound period of rapid change The emergence of globalised production and distribution systems which bring together diverse constellations of economic actors through a complex regime of global corporate governance state regulation and new international divisions of labour demands corresponding and innovative explanatory models Global value chains GVCs and global production networks GPNs have been particularly useful as conceptual frameworks for understanding the global market engagement of firms regions and nations This book examines the rise of GVCs and GPNs as dominant features of the international political economy It brings together leading thinkers in the field and sets out new directions for future scholarship in understanding the contemporary global economic system In doing so this book makes a significant contribution to our understanding of the international political economy and the global economic system in the post Washington Consensus era of contemporary capitalism This book was published as a special issue of the Review of International Political Economy Research and Debate in Primary Geography

Simon Catling,2017-10-02 This book brings together recent papers which make important contributions to understanding and developing primary geography It considers primary teachers and trainee teachers knowledge of geography how the primary curriculum uses geography teachers planning of geography teaching the way in which aspects of geography are taught what high quality geography might look like and children s geographical understanding and voices Though geography curricula change quite often in countries around the world the core matters noted above remain of constant and vital importance The papers in this book either concern research with primary teachers and children or consider key concerns in primary geography providing important perspectives for thinking about future developments in geography teaching and curriculum initiatives in primary schools This is a stimulating and enticing collection written by leading exponents of and experts in primary geography education This book was originally published as a special issue of Education 3 13 Low Carbon Development

Frauke Urban,Johan Nordensvard,2013-07-18 Low Carbon Development Key Issues is the first comprehensive textbook to address the interface between international development and climate change in a carbon constrained world It discusses the key conceptual empirical and policy related issues of low carbon development and takes an international and interdisciplinary approach to the subject by drawing on insights from across the natural sciences and social sciences whilst embedding the discussion in a global context The first part explores the concept of low carbon development and explains the need for low carbon development in a carbon constrained world The book then discusses the key issues of socio economic political and technological nature for low carbon development exploring topics such as the political economy social justice financing and carbon markets and technologies and innovation for low carbon development This is followed by key issues for low carbon development in policy and practice which is presented based on cross cutting issues such as low carbon energy forestry agriculture and transportation Afterwards practical case studies are discussed from low carbon development in low income countries in Africa middle income countries in Asia and Latin America and high income countries in Europe and North America Written by an international team of leading academics and practitioners in the field of low carbon development this book is essential reading for students academics professionals and policy makers interested in the fields of low carbon development climate change mitigation climate policy climate change and development global environmental change and environment and development

Institutional Challenges to Intermodal Transport and Logistics Jason Monios, 2016-05-23 While the operational realities of intermodal transport are relatively well known the institutional challenges are less well understood This book provides an overview of intermodal transport and logistics including the policy background emerging industry trends and academic approaches Establishing the three key features of intermodal transport geography as intermodal terminals inland logistics and hinterland corridors Jason Monios takes an institutional approach to understanding the difficulties of successful intermodal transport and logistics Key areas of investigation include the policy and planning background the roles of public and private stakeholders and the identification of emerging strategy conflicts Substantial empirical content situates the theoretical and practical issues in real world examples via three detailed case study chapters covering the USA UK and Europe making the book useful to students as well as practitioners desiring an understanding of how intermodal transport and logistics work in practice The identified challenges to intermodal transport and logistics are used to demonstrate how competing port and inland strategies can inhibit the necessary processes of integration required to underpin successful intermodal transport The book concludes with a look at the future of institutional adaptation that may enhance the capacity of freight actors to engage with intermodal transport developments

Territorial Cohesion in Rural Europe Andrew Copus, Philomena de Lima, 2014-08-13 This book reflects on how the economies social characteristics ways of life and global relationships of rural areas of Europe have changed in recent years This reveals a need to refresh the concepts we use to understand measure and describe rural communities and their development potential This book argues that Europe has outgrown many of the stereotypes usually associated with it with substantial implications for European Rural Policy Rural structural change and its evolving geography are portrayed through regional typologies and the concept of the New Rural Economy Demographic change migration business networks and agricultural restructuring are each explored in greater detail Implications for equality and social exclusion and recent developments in the field of governance are also considered Despite being a subject of active debate interventions in the fields of rural and regional development have failed to adapt to changing realities and have become increasingly polarized This book argues that rural regional policy needs to evolve in order to address the current complex reality partially reformulating territorial or place based approaches and the New Rural Paradigm following a set of principles termed Rural Cohesion Policy

Tourism Planning and Development in Eastern Europe Hania Janta,Konstantinos Andriotis,Dimitrios Styliadis,2022-08-25 Three decades ago the hypermobility of tourists from the days before the global pandemic was truly unthinkable in Eastern Europe The borders were closed and the region isolated from the rest of the world Despite an extraordinary transformation of tourism in the area since Eastern Europe remains under explored in tourism studies This book fills the gap by outlining contemporary strategies for tourism development in post socialist countries considering the opportunities and challenges as well as the initiatives and approaches to sustainability Illuminating the various economic socio cultural and environmental impacts that tourism has created this book is a valuable reference for researchers and students of tourism and related disciplines as well as anyone interested in the development of Eastern Europe East and West in Comparative Education Soong Hee Han, Peter Jarvis, 2017-10-02 Sparked by global capitalism's demand for new knowledge and new commodities as well as new logistical systems to deliver them the nature of education has changed significantly Universities in striving to become a part of this knowledge society have focused on responding to these demands at the expense of the humanities and social sciences The dominance of this way of thinking primarily a product of Western educational thought has clearly affected approaches to education in the East The originalities authenticities and unique perspectives of the East have failed to get enough attention subsumed by the focus on science and technology However many education systems are still endeavouring to capture some of the indigenous and authentic culture of their home countries incorporating national cultural ideals even in subjects with a primarily vocational focus Although the drive for scientific knowledge has led to a degree of standardisation and convergence cultural differences still play a role in the education theory and policy of different countries This book examines these cultural differences between different East Asian and South Asian countries with chapters ranging from historical educational analysis to contemporary re interpretations of the construction of society and education in the East This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education Towards a Political Economy of

Resource-dependent Regions Greg Halseth, Laura Ryser, 2017-08-18 This book advances our understanding of resource dependent regions in developed economies in the 21st Century It explores how rural and small town places are working to find success in a new economy marked by demographic economic social cultural political and environmental change How are we to understand the changes and transformations working through communities and economies Where are the trajectories of change leading these resource dependent places and regions Drawing upon examples from Canada USA UK Australia New Zealand and the Nordic countries these and other questions are explored and addressed by constructing a critical political economy framework of resource hinterland transition Towards a Political Economy of Resource Dependent Regions is a key resource for students and researchers in geography rural and industrial sociology economics environmental studies political science regional studies and planning as well as policy makers those in industry and the private sector and local and regional development practitioners
