

She went straight for the biggest bowl but as she began to gobble it down she suddenly spat it out!
"This porridge is too hot!" she yelled.
So she went to try the porridge in the medium bowl but spat that porridge out too.
"This porridge is too cold!" she grumbled.
She carefully tasted the porridge in the third, small bowl.
"This porridge is just right!" she said happily.

Once upon a time there was a little girl called Goldilocks. She had lovely, golden hair. She was walking through the woods one day when she came across a little cottage. She knocked on the door but nobody answered. Even though nobody answered, she reached out, turned the door handle and walked inside. She didn't know it but this house belonged to three bears.

Finally, they walked up the stairs and into the bedroom.
"Someone has been sleeping in my bed!" yelled Daddy bear.
"Someone has been sleeping in my bed!" yelled Mummy bear.
"Someone has been sleeping in my bed and she is still there!" yelled Baby bear.

As she walked into the kitchen she saw a large, medium and small bowl on the worktop. After all of the walking in the woods, Goldilocks was very hungry. Inside the bowls she could see and smell some delicious porridge.

Seeing Witness Jane Blocker, 2009. The act of bearing witness can reveal much, but what about the figure of the witness itself? As contemporary culture is increasingly dominated by surveillance, the witness, whether artist, historian, scientist, government official or ordinary citizen, has become empowered in realms from art to politics. In Seeing Witness, Jane Blocker challenges the implicit authority of witnessing through the examination of a series of contemporary artworks, all of which make the act of witnessing visible, open to inspection and critique.

Moving Critical Literacies Forward Jessica Pandya, Julianna Ávila, 2013-11-26. Taking the pulse of current efforts to do and, in some cases, undo critical literacy, this volume explores and critiques its implementation in learning contexts around the globe. An impressive set of international authors offer examples of productive critical literacy practices in and out of schools, address the tensions and gaps between these practices and educational policies, and attempt to forecast the future for critical literacy as a movement in the changing global educational policy landscape. This collection is unique in presenting the recent work of luminaries such as Allan Luke and Hilary Janks alongside relative newcomers who use innovative approaches and arguments to reinvigorate and redefine critical practice. It is time for this cutting-edge inquiry into the state of critical literacy, not only because it is a complex and ever-evolving field, but perhaps more important, because it offers a reaction to and powerful reworking of standardization and high-stakes accountability measures in educational contexts around the globe.
