The Best Horror of the Year Ellen Datlow, 2014-05-20 This statement was true when H P Lovecraft first wrote it at the beginning of the twentieth century and it remains true at the beginning of the twenty first century The only thing that has changed is what is unknown With each passing year science technology and the march of time shine light into the craggy corners of the universe making the fears of an earlier generation seem quaint But this light creates its own shadows The Best Horror of the Year edited by Ellen Datlow chronicles these shifting shadows It is a catalog of terror fear and unpleasantness as articulated by today s most challenging and exciting writers The best horror writers of today do the same thing that horror writers of a hundred years ago did They tell good stories stories that scare us And when these writers tell really good stories that really scare us Ellen Datlow notices She s been noticing for more than a quarter century For twenty one years she coedited The Year s Best Fantasy and Horror and for the last six years she s edited this series In addition to this monumental cataloging of the best she has edited hundreds of other horror anthologies and won numerous awards including the Hugo Bram Stoker and World Fantasy awards More than any other editor or critic Ellen Datlow has charted the shadowy abyss of horror fiction Join

Anthropocene Fictions Adam Trexler, 2015-04-20 Since the Industrial Revolution humans have transformed the Earth's atmosphere committing our planet to more extreme weather rising sea levels melting polar ice caps and mass extinction This period of observable human impact on the Earth's ecosystems has been called the Anthropocene Age The anthropogenic climate change that has impacted the Earth has also affected our literature but criticism of the contemporary novel has not adequately recognized the literary response to this level of environmental crisis Ecocriticism's theories of place and planet meanwhile are troubled by a climate that is neither natural nor under human control Anthropocene Fictions is the first systematic examination of the hundreds of novels that have been written about anthropogenic climate change Drawing on climatology the sociology and philosophy of science geography and environmental economics Adam Trexler argues that the novel has become an essential tool to construct meaning in an age of climate change The novel expands the reach of climate science beyond the laboratory or model turning abstract predictions into subjectively tangible experiences of place identity and culture Political and economic organizations are also being transformed by their struggle for sustainability In turn the novel has been forced to adapt to new boundaries between truth and fabrication nature and economies and individual choice and larger systems of natural phenomena Anthropocene Fictions argues that new modes of inhabiting climate are of the utmost critical and political importance when unprecedented scientific consensus has failed to lead to action Under the Sign of Nature Explorations in Ecocriticism

The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction Liam Harte, 2020-10-15 The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction presents authoritative essays by thirty five leading scholars of Irish fiction They provide in depth assessments of the breadth and achievement of novelists and short story writers whose collective contribution to the evolution and modification of these unique art forms has been far out of proportion to Ireland's small size The volume brings a variety of critical perspectives to bear on the development of modern Irish fiction situating authors texts and genres in their social intellectual and literary historical contexts The Handbook's coverage encompasses an expansive range of topics including the recalcitrant atavisms of Irish Gothic fiction nineteenth century Irish women's fiction and its influence on emergent modernism and cultural nationalism the diverse modes of irony fabulism and social realism that characterize the fiction of the Irish Literary Revival the fearless aesthetic radicalism of James Joyce the jolting narratological experiments of Samuel Beckett Flann O'Brien and Mairéad Cadhain the fate of the realist and modernist traditions in the work of Elizabeth Bowen Frank O'Connor Seán O'Faoláin and Mary Lavin and in that of their ambivalent heirs Edna O'Brien John McGahern and John Banville the subversive treatment of sexuality and gender in Northern Irish women's fiction written during and after the Troubles the often neglected genres of Irish crime fiction science fiction and fiction for children the many hued novelistic responses to the experiences of famine revolution and emigration and the variety and vibrancy of post millennial fiction from both parts of Ireland Readably written and employing a wealth of original research The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction illuminates a distinguished literary tradition that has altered the shape of world literature New Directions in Children's Gothic Anna Jackson, 2017-03-27 Children's literature today is dominated by the gothic mode and it is in children's gothic fictions that we find the implications of cultural change most radically questioned and explored This collection of essays looks at what is happening in the children's Gothic now when traditional monsters have become the heroes when new monsters have come into play when globalisation brings Harry Potter into China and yaoguai into the children's Gothic and when childhood itself and children's literature as a genre can no longer be thought of as an uncontested space apart from the debates and power struggles of an adult domain We look in detail at series such as The Mortal Instruments Twilight Chaos Walking The Power of Five Skulduggery Pleasant and Cirque du Freak at novels about witches and novels about changelings at the Gothic in China Japan and Oceania and at authors including Celia Rees Frances Hardinge Alan Garner and Laini Taylor amongst many others At a time when the energies and anxieties of children's novels can barely be contained anymore within the genre of children's literature spilling over into YA and adult literature we need to pay attention Weird things are happening and they matter

The Political Economy of the 2014-2020 Common Agricultural Policy Johan F.M. Swinnen, 2015-07-30 After five years of debates consultations and negotiations the European institutions reached an agreement in 2013 on the Common Agricultural Policy CAP for the 2014-2020 period The outcome has major implications for the EU's budget and farmers incomes but also for Europe's environment its contribution to global climate change and to food security in the EU and in the world It was decided to spend more than 400 billion during the rest of the decade on the CAP The official claims are that the new CAP will take better account of society's expectations and lead to far reaching changes by making subsidies fairer and greener and making the CAP more efficient It is also asserted that the CAP will play a key part in achieving the overall objective of promoting smart sustainable and inclusive growth However there is significant scepticism about these claims and disappointment with the outcome of the decision making the first in which the European Parliament was involved under the co decision procedure In contrast to earlier reforms where more substantive changes were made to the CAP the factors that induced the policy discussions in 2008-13 and those that influenced the decision making did not reinforce each other On the contrary they sometimes counteracted one another yielding an imperfect storm as it were resulting in more status quo and fewer changes This book discusses the outcome of the decision making and the factors that influenced the policy choices and decisions It brings together contributions from leading academics from various disciplines and policy makers and key participants in the process from the European Commission and the European Parliament The Readers' Advisory Guide to Historical Fiction Jennifer S.
