History Paper 1 November 2013:

The Routledge History of Fashion and Dress, 1800 to the Present Veronique Pouillard, Vincent Dubé-Sénécal, 2023-10-24

The time span covered by The Routledge History of Fashion and Dress starts in the nineteenth century with the aftermath of the consumers revolution and reaches all the way to the present. The fashion and garment industries have been international from the beginning and as such this volume looks at the history of fashion and dress through the lenses of both international and global history. Because fashion is also a multifaceted subject with human agency at its core at the confluence of the material fabrics, clothing, dyes, tools and machines and the immaterial savoir faire, identities, images and brands, this volume adopts a transdisciplinary perspective opening its pages to researchers from a variety of complementary fields. The chapters in this volume are organized based on their relationship to five fields of study: economics and commerce, politics, business, identities and historical sources. Paying particular attention to change, the book goes beyond the great fashion capitals and well known fashion centers and points to the broader geographies of fashion. Particular geographical areas focus on the emergence of new fashion systems and business models, whether they be in Sweden, Bangladesh or Spain or on the African continent considered to be the new frontier of the industry. Covering myriad aspects of the subject, this is the perfect companion for all those interested in history of dress and fashion in the modern world.

Academic Publishing David Coniam, Peter Falvey, 2022-10-02

This book focuses on the topic of academic publishing. It discusses the mounting serious problems that researchers, particularly new researchers, encounter when trying to publish their research. The book addresses the issues of publishing as well as the salient factors militating against academic publication and the mitigating factors encouraging academic publication. It provides potential solutions, suggestions and strategies for overcoming some of these problems. Growing research output from Southeast Asia, including Singapore, Malaysia, Taiwan and China, reveals the struggles that many authors have to confront when attempting to publish their work in reputable journals. In both South Africa and other parts of Africa, academic researchers are beginning to show strong evidence of credible academic output. These researchers all need valid outlets for their work and the security that authentic peer review brings to the reviewing process. In the fields of education, social sciences and professional practices, e.g. architecture and law, recent years have seen the emergence of new outlets for practitioners' research outputs in areas such as one's own practice, self-reflection and narrative inquiry. These outlets are discussed in this book. The book also discusses the malign influence of predatory publications in detail. This book will be beneficial to university academics, postgraduate students, Ph.D. supervisors and new researchers.

Reforming Memory Robert Vosloo, 2017-10-02 Although we should acknowledge the fragility of memory we should nevertheless affirm the remarkable ability of memory to reform and transform our identity Our memories and ways of remembering are however often marked by trauma and violence Memory therefore not merely reforms it too is in need of reformation redemption and transformation With this emphasis in mind Reforming Memory grapples with the question what a responsible engagement with the past entails also for Christians and churches associated with the Reformed tradition The history of Reformed churches in South Africa is one can argue a deeply divided and ambivalent one The same figures are heroes to some and villains to others historic events are deeply ambiguous and conflicting views surround different discourses Yet the histories and perhaps futures of these churches and traditions are inextricably interwoven Reforming Memory fundamentally combines an interest in the notion of memory with an interest in South African Reformed theology and history Central is the question how should we remember and represent the past

Doing Justice to History Barrie Sander, 2021-03-09 As communities struggle to make sense of mass atrocities expectations have increasingly been placed on international criminal courts to render authoritative historical accounts of episodes of mass violence Taking these expectations as its point of departure this book seeks to understand international criminal courts through the prism of their historical function The book critically examines how such courts confront the past by constructing historical narratives concerning both the culpability of the accused on trial and the broader mass atrocity contexts in which they are alleged to have participated The book argues that international criminal courts are host to struggles for historical justice discursive contests between different actors vying for judicial acknowledgement of their interpretations of the past By examining these struggles within different institutional settings the book uncovers the legitimating qualities of international criminal judgments In particular it illuminates what tends to be foregrounded and included within as well as marginalised and excluded from the narratives of international criminal courts in practice What emerges from this account is a sense of the significance of thinking about the emancipatory limits and possibilities of international criminal courts in terms of the historical narratives that are constructed and contested within and beyond the courtroom      Curating Oral Histories Nancy MacKay, 2016-06-16 The greatly expanded second edition of Curating Oral Histories offers the same practical guidance as the first edition in the same engaging style but with enhanced content and context Updates on technology legal and ethical issues oral history on the Internet cataloging copyright and backlogs reflect current thinking in the field
