Human Aging 2nd Edition

Paul W. Foos, M. Cherie Clark

Human Aging 2nd Edition:

Human Aging Paul W. Foos, M. Cherie Clark, 2016-01-08 This text offers a readable and friendly presentation of the important methods findings and theories of human aging while actively involving the reader in meaningful exercises and critical thinking. Students are repeatedly challenged to apply information in the text to the older adults in their own lives. Specifically, suggestions for enhancing the lives of their older relatives are offered and encouraged. These include guidelines for discussions they might have regarding social, emotional, and environmental changes, as well as encouraging intellectual and social interaction. In this Edition, emphasis on the science of the study of aging and why questions in aging are difficult to answer, how social scientists attempt to handle such difficulties, and the successes and failures social scientists have had thus far in answering those questions. The text also demonstrates how current research findings are now being applied in the real world and or how they might be applied in the future. Cross cultural comparisons and ethnic group comparisons are included wherever possible. Each chapter begins with Senior View which introduces students to a real person and gives them a chance to hear what older adults think and say about important issues related to the chapter and a chance to compare those opinions to the research findings. Each chapter ends with Making Choices emphasizing the important behavioral, emotional, and social choices that students can make now to prolong a healthy, happy life. Chapter Projects offer the opportunity for active learning as students investigate for themselves an issue related to the chapter. Instructors can expand these projects for students who want to learn more or for independent study. Focus on Aging boxes compliment the material in the text providing additional insight and examples and encouraging critical thinking. Every chapter includes discussion questions, study questions, chapter exercises, and related online resources.

Older Adults, Health Information, and the World Wide Web Roger W. Morrell, 2001-11. This work explores how the Web might be used to deliver current, easily accessible health information to adults over the age of 60 and their caregivers. It considers how age-related changes in vision, cognitive function, and motor skills impact on the delivery of health information.

Handbook of Psychology, Developmental Psychology Irving B. Weiner, Richard M. Lerner, M. Ann Easterbrooks, Jayanthi Mistry, 2012-10-16. Psychology is of interest to academics from many fields as well as to the thousands of academic and clinical psychologists and the general public who can't help but be interested in learning more about why humans think and behave as they do. This award-winning twelve-volume reference covers every aspect of the ever-fascinating discipline of psychology and represents the most current knowledge in the field. This ten-year revision now covers discoveries based in neuroscience, clinical psychology's new interest in evidence-based practice and mindfulness, and new findings in social, developmental, and forensic psychology.

Counseling Individuals Through the Lifespan Daniel W. Wong, Kimberly R. Hall, Lucy Wong Hernandez, 2025-06-10. Organized around the 2024 CACREP Standards, Counseling Individuals Through the Lifespan introduces students to the fundamentals of the counseling process during each stage of human development. Topics such as the client-counselor relationship, counseling theory, research, and interventions are addressed with a focus on caring for the total person within their environment and culture. Emphasizing the importance of intentionality and self-reflection, the chapters include case illustrations and guided practice exercises to further the development of successful 21st-century counselors. The Third Edition has been revised to include important issues associated with COVID-19 and the aftermath trauma caused by the loss of family members, significant others, and family pets, and the impact of artificial intelligence.
