All Russia Is Burning! Cathy A. Frierson, 2012-11-10 Rural fires were an even more persistent scourge than famine in late imperial Russia as Cathy Frierson shows in this first comprehensive study Destroying almost three billion rubles worth of property in European Russia between 1860 and 1904 accidental and arson fires acted as a brake on Russia s economic development while subjecting peasants to perennial shocks to their physical and emotional condition The fire question captured the attention of educated progressive Russians who came to perceived it as a key obstacle to Russia s becoming a modern society in the European model Using sources ranging from literary representations and newspaper articles to statistical tables and court records Frierson demonstrates the many meanings fire held for both peasants and the educated elite To peasants it was an essential source of light and warmth as well as a destructive force that regularly ignited their cramped villages of wooden thatch roofed huts Absent the rule of law they often used arson to gain justice or revenge or to exert social control over those who would violate village norms Frierson shows that the vast majority of arson cases in European Russia were not peasant against gentry acts of protest but peasant against peasant acts of self help law or plain spite Both the state and individual progressives set out to resolve the fire question and to educate cajole or coerce the peasantry into the modern world Fire insurance building codes scientific village layouts and volunteer firefighting brigades reduced the average number of buildings consumed in each blaze but none of these measures succeeded in curbing the number of fires each year More than anything else this history of fire and arson in rural European Russia is a history of their cultural meanings in the late imperial campaign for modernity Frierson shows the special associations of women with fire in rural life and in elite understanding of fire in the Russian countryside Her study of the fire question demonstrates both peasant agency in fighting fire and educated Russians hardening conviction that peasants stood in the way of Russia's advent into the company of prosperous rational civilized nations Alloys Index ,1992 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1995 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International Associations,2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events Country Life ,1960-11 The Compact Edition of the Oxford English Dictionary Sir James Augustus Henry Murray,1971 Micrographic reproduction of the 13 volume Oxford English dictionary published in 1933 Bibliographic Guide to Music New York Public Library.
