Thinking and Acting Systemically Alan Daly, Kara Finnigan, 2016-05-19 This volume argues that districts are important as a lever for change given the limited success of school by school efforts Policies that focus on skill development recognize and support performance create opportunities for collaboration build leader capacity and create networks of knowledge sharing hold great potential for improving districts but it will require a paradigm shift in the way we view our public school system and those who work within it away from blame and toward complex systems change

Local Content Oil and Gas Law in Africa Pereowei Subai,2019-01-10 Examining local content law and policy in the oil and gas industry this book uses Nigeria as a primary case study comparing its approach to countries such as Brazil and Norway which have also adopted local content laws in relation to their gas and oil industries In considering various aspects of local content law and policy as they apply to the oil and gas industry the book examines the factors behind the formulation of local content policies by petroleum producing states and the various strategies they have employed to implement them It analyses arguments against local content requirements from the perspective of international trade and investment law and from liberal market economic theorists who argue against its overall usefulness The book highlights salient aspects of the oil and gas industry such as regulation national oil companies treatment of minorities and policy formulation and implementation

The Evolving Military Balance in the Korean Peninsula and Northeast Asia Anthony H. Cordesman,Ashley Hess,2013-07-10 The Evolving Military Balance in the Korean Peninsula and Northeast Asia describes the strategy force deployments and the military balance in potential current and future scenarios involving the Democratic People s Republic of Korea Republic of Korea People s Republic of China Japan and the United States The analysis in these volumes shows how tensions between the Koreas and the potential involvement of the China Japan Russia and the United States create a nearly open ended spectrum of possible conflicts These range from posturing and threats wars of intimidation to a major conventional conflict on the Korean Peninsula to intervention by outside powers like the United States and China to the extreme of nuclear conflict The analysis shows that the Korean balance is sharply affected by the uncertain mix of cooperation and competition between the United States and China The U S rebalancing of its forces to Asia and the steady modernization of Chinese forces in particular the growth of Chinese sea air missile capabilities affect the balance in the Koreas and Northeast Asia They also raise the possibility of far more intense conflicts that could extend far beyond the boundaries of the Koreas

Common Law Constitutional Rights Mark Elliott,Kirsty Hughes,2020-04-16 There is a developing body of legal reasoning in the United Kingdom Supreme Court in which members of the senior judiciary have asserted the primary role of common law constitutional rights and critiqued legal arguments based first and foremost on the Human Rights Act 1998 Their calls for a shift in legal reasoning have created a sense amongst both scholars and the judiciary that something significant is happening Yet despite renewed academic and judicial interest we have limited insight into what common law constitutional rights we have how they work and what they offer This book is the first collection of its kind to systematically explore both the content and role of individual common law constitutional rights alongside the constitutional significance and broader implications of these developments It therefore contributes not only to our understanding of what the common law might be capable of offering in terms of the protection of rights but also to our understanding of the nature of the constitutional order of which such rights are an integral part

Living by the Gun in Chad Marielle Debos, 2016-10-15 How do people live in a country that has experienced rebellions and state organised repressions for decades and that is still marked by routine forms of violence and impunity What do combatants do when they are not mobilised for war Drawing on over ten years of fieldwork conducted in Chad Marielle Debos explains how living by the gun has become both an acceptable form of political expression and an everyday occupation Contrary to the popular association of violence and chaos she shows that these fighters continue to observe rules frontiers and hierarchies even as their allegiances shift between rebel and government forces and as they drift between Chad Libya Sudan and the Central African Republic Going further she explores the role of the globalised politico military entrepreneurs and highlights the long involvement of the French military in the country Ultimately the book demonstrates that ending the war is not enough The issue is ending the inter war which is maintained and reproduced by state violence Combining ethnographic observation with in depth theoretical analysis Living by the Gun in Chad is a crucial contribution to our understanding of the intersections of war and peace

Long Journey to the Border Vincent O'Sullivan, 2011 John Mulgan was part of a gifted yet uneasy group of young New Zealanders who made their mark between the wars men such as Ian Milner James Bertram Dan Davin and Geoffrey Cox An Oxford graduate he worked as a publisher at Oxford University Press before leaving for the front in World War Two Fascinated but sometimes troubled by his home country Mulgan saw New Zealand as a place of challenge and austere demands a land that produced men more practical than cultivated In his famous novel Man Alone he depicted it as a tough often heartless country characterised by the solitary figure who has come to symbolise the male New Zealand psyche He wrote more warmly of the place and the people in the poignant memoir Report on Experience published after his death Mulgan was a glamorous figure handsome gifted and good at anything he attempted His last years were spent fighting in the Allied cause in Egypt and Greece where he distinguished himself But there were darker threads too which culminated in his decision to take his own life in Cairo just after the end of the war and aged only 33 In this penetrating biography Vincent O Sullivan draws on a large collection of personal papers official records and contemporary memoirs to paint a vivid portrait of a man who came to represent so much about his country and his time

Albert Taylor Bledsoe Terry A. Barnhart, 2011-06-10 Albert Taylor Bledsoe 1809 1877 a principle architect of the South s Lost Cause mythology remains one of the Civil War generation's leading and most controversial intellectuals In Albert Taylor Bledsoe Defender of the Old South and Architect of the Lost Cause Terry A Barnhart sheds new light on this provocative figure his diverse interests and his divisive ideas This biography the first ever published of its subject skillfully weaves Bledsoe's multifarious and extraordinary life history into a narrative that illustrates the events that shaped his opinions and influenced his writings Barnhart's account demonstrates how Bledsoe still speaks directly and sometimes eloquently to the core issues that divided the nation in the 1860s and continue to haunt it today

Black Yanks in the Pacific Michael Cullen Green, 2011-05-02 By the end of World War II many black citizens viewed service in the segregated American armed forces with distaste if not disgust Meanwhile domestic racism and Jim Crow ongoing Asian struggles against European colonialism and prewar calls for Afro Asian solidarity had generated considerable black ambivalence toward American military expansion in the Pacific in particular the impending occupation of Japan However over the following decade black military service enabled tens of thousands of African Americans to interact daily with Asian peoples encounters on a scale impossible prior to 1945 It also encouraged African Americans to share many of the same racialized attitudes toward Asian peoples held by their white counterparts and to identify with their government's foreign policy objectives in Asia In Black Yanks in the Pacific Michael Cullen Green tells the story of African American engagement with military service in occupied Japan war torn South Korea and an emerging empire of bases anchored in those two nations After World War II African Americans largely embraced the socioeconomic opportunities afforded by service overseas despite the maintenance of military segregation into the early 1950s while strained Afro Asian social relations in Japan and South Korea encouraged a sense of insurmountable difference from Asian peoples By the time the Supreme Court declared de jure segregation unconstitutional in its landmark 1954 Brown v Board of Education decision African American investment in overseas military expansion was largely secured Although they were still subject to discrimination at home many African Americans had come to distrust East Asian peoples and to accept the legitimacy of an expanding military empire abroad
